SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — Thirty thousand Korean rightists demonstrated in support of Premier John M. Chang yesterday in three cities. The marchers shouted "Away with the Reds disguised as reformers" in demonstrations to counter those held last week to demand Chang's dismissal.

Bennett Grip On House Not So Firm

By PETER BRUTON
(First of a Series)

Perhaps the one dominating factor behind much of the verbal violence and exhausting pace of this year's session of the provincial legislature was the fact that Premier Bennett no longer held complete control.

Premier Bennett is not a man who gives in easily. Force of the opposition attack, its diversity and its bitterness, surprised the premier as it did observers and he answered it in a blunt and forceful way — punishing night sittings stretching into the early morning hours, day after day.

The premier accused the opposition of filibustering. Some of the time it was. Once, in order to keep the CCF attack on Health Minister Eric Martin's estimates going, Gordon Dowding (CCF — Burnaby) handed out briefs presented to the American Psychiatric Association survey of mental health services to fellow members to read to the House.

But not all the fights could be kept behind doors, indeed they were in the minority. It was a stinging slap in the face for the premier when one of his own backbenchers, Cyril Shefford of Omineca, rose with the opposition to vote against the gasoline tax increase. "It goes to show how democratic we are in Social Credit. Everybody is entitled to his own opinions," said the premier. Continued on Page 7

'We Want a Rest'

"We want a rest from this," the spokesman for the government backbenchers told the premier behind closed doors. "We want out tonight by 10 p.m. or else."

On another occasion the cabinet was condemned by the Social Credit opposition for drafting a too-harsh act to curb the activities of labor — and it is generally conceded that this led to a "watering-down" of the government's labor legislation.

But he told a press conference, he has not yet received a formal reply.

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is delaying his reply to a British appeal for a cease-fire in Laos until he can complete consultations with Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung. Diplomatic reports said yesterday.

The royal Laotian government said Tuesday night it would never accept a cease-fire that did not call for the immediate withdrawal of Communist North Vietnamese troops and Soviet arms from Laos. The unexpected statement appeared likely to snarl peace negotiations.

Laos Rain Bogs Anti-Red Drive

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Torrential rains that arrived several weeks ahead of the monsoon season bogged down a government offensive yesterday.

Government troops, driven south toward Vientiane by a heavy Communist offensive last week, had been reported fighting back along the jungle road which extends 135 miles northward from Vientiane to Luang Prabang.

They were headed for the

Public Works Scalpel Cuts Away $426,314

By TERRY HAMMOND

With the "hold-the-line" admonition of city council still ringing in its ears the city's public works committee yesterday took the knife to its 1961 provisional budget and in seven hours carved out $426,314.

But in order to come anywhere near last year's expenditures the scalpel of economy must amputate a further $1,450,000.

SLICED AWAY
By late yesterday afternoon the committee had sliced away at everything but public works capital expenditures, which at $1,411,883 amount to something less than the sum still to be eliminated if the department is to meet council's dictum of "no boost in taxes."

Departmental officials brought to the committee's budget-slashing meeting yesterday estimates totaling $4,017,976. Somehow these must be reconciled to 1960 public works expenditures of only $2,665,931.

FEW MINUTES
With the surgery only a few minutes old, the committee snipped $10,350 from building maintenance and $11,550 from waterworks, then found it had to add $900 for additional inspection services.

Then at a single blow the committee cut away a $50,000 remedial program for part of the city section of Bowker Creek, a natural stream whose swift waters arouse the ire of North Victoria parents. The money would have launched a $150,000 three-year program designed to cover the treacherous watercourse.

STILL FALL IN
"Kill the $30,000," said Ald. Edgewood, who pointed out that even if the city covered its part of the stream, children could still fall into the Oak Bay and Saanich portions.

A further cut of $40,000 from special projects and $5,200 from operating expenditures brought sanitation and waste disposal down to $90,000 but still left it $42,300 above the 1960 level.

The committee could only scrape $1,650 from street lighting operating estimates but eliminated close to $300,000 worth of special projects which would have seen the city's cluster lights 'rehabili-

150,000 Feet Target Today

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — The X15 experimental rocketship is scheduled to attempt a new unofficial world altitude record of 23 miles—150,000 feet—today.

Already set up are the unofficial mark of 136,500 feet and the world speed record of 2,985 miles an hour.

Test pilot Joe Walker, 40, should experience 90 seconds of weightlessness at the top of his climb on the flight, the most ever experienced by a pilot.

Manitoba Swamps Sweepstake Plan

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba legislature overwhelmingly voted Tuesday the idea of a provincially-operated sweepstakes.

The only members voting for a motion calling for the setting up of a government lottery to finance hospital costs were three members who had spoken in favor of the resolution—two Tories and a Liberal-Progressive.

Education Minister Stewart McLean opposed sweepstakes because he felt all taxation should be direct. It would set a bad example to finance the hospital plan by sweeps tickets.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Roblin announced Tuesday evening in the Manitoba legislature that sales of the province's savings bonds have reached a total of $39,000,000—almost five times the hoped-for maximum.

Airliner Crash Kills 52

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — A four-engine Czech airliner plunged in flames into a wooded area 30 miles north of here Tuesday killing all 52 persons aboard.

Many of the bodies recovered from the burned wreckage were those of small children.

FIRST STOP

The 80-passenger, Soviet-made Ilyushin-18 turbo-prop plane was en route from Prague to Bamako, capital of the Mali republic in West Africa, and was scheduled to make its first stop at Zurich, Switzerland.

At Zurich, a spokesman for the government-owned Czechoslovak airlines said the plane carried 44 passengers and a crew of eight.

IN FLAMES
Witnesses said the giant airliner was in flames and apparently had attempted an emergency landing near the hamlet of Russelsbach.

Czech postal bags and a Soviet passport were among the items found strewn in a field in the wooded area where the plane crashed.

A telephone operator near the scene said the giant airliner apparently was trying to make a forced landing.

OVER TREETOPS

"The drone of a low-flying plane alarmed us," she said. "The noise grew louder and louder. Then I could see the plane gliding over the treetops."

"I could see it plunge into the open field. There was a horrible explosion and a giant red flame shot toward the night sky."

CHIANG KAI-SHEK

Red China Doomed —Chiang

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — President Chiang Kai-shek yesterday criticized the "two-china" policy and said it does not recognize the fact that the Chinese Communist regime is bound to collapse.

Chiang, in a Youth Day message, said "nothing can be more irrational of human rights" than the policy of recognizing both the Nationalist regime and the Chinese government in Peking.

(In Bangkok, where the SEATO powers are meeting, it was learned that the Kennedy administration has not changed and does not plan to change its policy toward supporting the Nationalist government.)

Tories, Liberals Unite to Squelch NATO Pull-Out

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Liberal opposition and the ruling Conservative parties in the House of Commons joined together in a rare display of unity last night to oppose a CCF suggestion that Canada should withdraw from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming and Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson defended Canada's continued membership in NATO in a noisy debate sparked by the Socialist group's motion to reduce a $740,000 NATO contribution to $1.

CCF Leader Hazen Argue moved that the House not approve the supplementary spending estimate and reduce it to $1. The debate continued to the 10 p.m. adjournment and a vote was expected today before the Commons adjourns for the Easter recess.

Argue said Canada's NATO efforts should be used to strengthen conventional forces in this country and for assistance to under-developed nations.

Fleming replied to the applause of government supporters and the Liberal opposition that "we're not going to turn tail and leave them in the lurch."

"We stand squarely for NATO," he added, "and we'll not accept the suggestion of the CCF to dishonor our obligations."

Wave of Spending Danger to Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Thomas Crerar (L-Manitoba) warned the government Tuesday that its accelerating spending plans are leading Canada into a serious state of affairs.

"There is no reason at all why we should not work out of this plight if only our public men would think less about garnering votes and think more of the real welfare of this country," he said.

When questioned about this remark later, Senator Crerar indicated he had the CCF in mind in his recent plea that pensions be raised to $75 a month from the present $55.

"I certainly did not wish to convey the impression that the leaders of this country were more interested in canvassing for votes than they were in the country's welfare," he added. "That is the last thing I would want to say."

Senator Crerar predicted the 1961-62 government spending may top $7,000,000,000 for the first time.

Difficult Lake Project Finished Underwater

Divers Guide Gravel
For Spawning Beds

By CAL SMITH

A department of fisheries barge last week completed spreading gravel on the artificial spawning beds in Great Central Lake, marking the end of the underwater portion of the $80,000 project.

The barge, guided by skin-divers, dropped gravel, hauled all the way from Alberni, onto a grid of plastic pipes laid eight inches apart.

THROUGH GRAVEL

Holes in the pipes would allow fresh water to percolate through the eighteen inches of gravel.

The coarse gravel, which included half-pound rocks, looked too large for the comparatively small sockeyes to move. However, fisheries men are confident they will be able to do so.

SIMILAR BEDS

If the experiment proves successful, it should be possible to build similar beds throughout other lakes that are accessible but unsuitable for salmon spawning.

As the shores of the Great Central are formed by mountains, it was no surprise to find that the grid was built on a steep slope.

Only 60 feet wide and 70 feet long, the grid's top lies in about 20 feet of water, while the base is at 70.

This proved a problem for graving until a barrier of galvanized conduit was laid to prevent the possibility of an underwater landslide.

NEARBY CREEK

With the completion of the bed itself, all that now remains is the construction of a dam on nearby Forestry Creek and a 42-inch pipeline to the lakeshore and the grid.

Rising through the gravel, it is hoped that the constant supply of fresh water from the stream will provide the oxygen and percolation, so necessary to the eggs and fingerlings.

Special barge spreads gravel for artificial spawning bed.

Edmonton Emergency

'Man Up Front' Lands Troubled TCA Jetliner

EDMONTON (CP)—Reverse thrust of his jet engines and at least partial return of pressure in the hydraulic system of his jet liner helped Trans-Canada Air Lines Captain N. B. Stone of Montreal make "an almost normal landing" Tuesday at this city's airport.

It was flight 803 from Toronto to Vancouver.

Captain Stone's DC-8 transcontinental plane was diverted to the airport 20 miles south of Edmonton when lack of pressure in the hydraulic system was noticed as it prepared to land at Calgary.

122 ABOARD

The plane carried 114 passengers and eight crew members.

One of the passengers, Mrs. Doris MacMillan of Toronto, said after landing: "I prayed all the way from Calgary. It was up to the man up there and the man up front. The man up front did a tremendous job."

LONGER RUNWAYS

The plane was diverted to Edmonton because of the longer runways at the airport here. Passengers later completed their journey in other aircraft.

The landing gear was locked in normal position as the plane approached the runway, lined with emergency equipment as a precautionary measure.

TWICE TOLD

Mrs. MacMillan said the pilot twice told them of the trouble, but not the exact nature.

Mrs. MacMillan said she remembered saying, "Dear Lord, here I come."

Court Cases

Rebrin May Win Temporary Stay

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said in the Commons Tuesday consideration will be given to allowing Irene Rebrin, Slavonic lecturer at the University of British Columbia, to remain in Canada while she has civil court actions pending.

The Supreme Court of Canada Monday turned down Miss Rebrin's appeal against a deportation order.

H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) asked whether the usual practice would prevail in permitting a person subject to a deportation order to remain in Canada while involved in court actions.

Mr. Fulton, speaking as acting immigration minister in the absence of Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, said "every consideration will be given to the proposition (Mr. Herridge) has put forward."

Identical Bids 'Effrontery'

Electrical Prices Fixed, CCF Claims

TORONTO (CP)—A record of identical quotations on electrical equipment required by the Kingston Public Utilities Commission provides "convincing evidence" of economic collusion through price-fixing by all, or at least most, of the companies making bids.

He said in the legislature the Kingston PUC had made a list of all recent bids and found as many as nine companies made the same bids for equipment.

"Surely this is a piece of colossal effrontery," he said. "These companies are simply thumbing their noses at the governments and everybody else involved. They consider themselves above the law."

Although conceding the primary responsibility for price-fixing rested with the federal government, he said Attorney-General Kelso Roberts should take an interest in it.

He said other councils or public utilities periodically complained of too many identical bids coming out of sealed tenders.

Now Time Will Tell

ANOTHER session of the British Columbia legislature is over, a turbulent and sometimes childishly unruly session that did nothing to enhance respect for the province's elected representatives. Now it remains only to see where the chips will land.

It remains to be seen how an extensively-altered school financing formula approved by the legislature, and a new system of assessment to be effective next year, will affect the taxpayers. The government has said that the taxpayer will feel hardly any sting when this chip lands, but there is room for doubt.

It remains to be seen if the Pacific Northern Railway, freed of the control of the Public Utilities Act and therefore of obligation to disclose publicly its building and financing plans, will now go ahead with a line into the north—without looking for subsidization.

It remains to be seen if additional three cents of tax on a gallon of gasoline or motive diesel fuel will result in higher transport prices.

It remains to be seen how the government will spend $100,000 voted by the legislature, and perhaps more, to carry out recommendations in the American Psychiatric Association's report on mental health services—recommendations that the government would not disclose to the assembly.

But perhaps most interesting of all, it remains to be seen how the people of the province and perhaps the courts will judge the violently-debated Bill 42, no longer a bill but an act forbidding political contributions from union dues.

The CCF, thus deprived of a lucrative source of financial support for the New Party, protested that this was curtailment of democratic rights; the government answered that it was protection of a man's democratic right to work without being coerced into supporting a party not of his choice and without disclosing his political leanings.

"You are going down the drain, Mr. Premier," the CCF predicted. "You are never going to get back."

But time will tell. To many a British Columbian, union member or not, it may appear that the CCF protested far too loudly.

A Refreshing Change

PREMIER Bennett had three meetings over the weekend with Finance Minister Fleming on the Columbia power question. Says the premier: "I am very hopeful the Columbia will be developed without delay."

At its face value this would appear to remove any doubt as to the enthusiasm of Mr. Bennett for the Columbia as compared with the Peace River project he is alleged to favor.

Pending the report of the Shrum commission the merits of these rival schemes hang in the balance, but Canada is pledged to the Columbia apart from all else and Prime Minister Diefenbaker has said Parliament will ratify the treaty with the United States. The B.C.-Canada angle rests in the hands of Mr. Bennett and Mr. Fleming.

The finance minister has gone back to Ottawa to study the proposals of Mr. Bennett about financing the scheme. As is his obligation the latter is out to get the best deal he can for B.C.; for his part the former has the national treasury to consider.

The talks between them, says Mr. Bennett, were friendly and helpful. May they stay that way. This is something that should be worked out with calm maturity on both sides, and not via the long-distance public controversy that has previously marred a settlement of the matter.

Mr. Nehru's Timely Threat

PRIME Minister Nehru's strong hint that he might withdraw his Indian troops from The Congo if the port of Matadi is not recaptured by the United Nations—using force if necessary—may well have the happy effect of prodding the UN military command into some kind of positive action, now long overdue.

Though Mr. Nehru's threat may surprise the Western world, coming as it does from the arch-apostle of non-violence, it will also elicit a great deal of sympathy.

For far too long a handful of untrained, poorly armed and led savages in the guise of Congolese troops has been allowed to keep the whole country in a turmoil of terror, attacking at will unarmed civilians, torturing Europeans and Africans alike, desecrating churches and destroying mission stations in one unbridled orgy after another.

Among their victims have been the UN troops themselves—Canadians among them—who have been forced to submit to indignities and even death because of the stupidly mistaken idea that such a policy of turning the other cheek will cause the Congolese to accept law and order.

Such a policy is nonsense and has only resulted in a strengthening of the reign of terror which now envelops the whole country.

The time for using force has come if anything concrete is to be accomplished in The Congo.

The amazing thing is that it remained for a self-declared pacifist to underline the need for it. Obviously Mr. Nehru is not of the same mind as the heads of other governments whose national troops are involved in the campaign and who apparently are satisfied just to sit back and wait.

It is to be hoped that the United Nations will heed Mr. Nehru's warning—for if it does not, the battle is lost.

A Pleasant Thought

AMONG the motions put through in the closing rush of the legislature was one that would fall pleasantly on householder's ears. It was that a tax concession might be given to homeowners who improve their properties. And the motion won unanimous assent.

This doesn't mean that such relief is actually in the making; it still remains in the wait-and-see category. But nothing could be more welcome or make more amend.

At present it almost seems to be a sin to improve one's home or property, for the general impression is that this results in having one's taxes raised. This is really as anomalous a factor in municipal administration as could be imagined, especially since municipalities urge householders to enhance their properties and so add to the prestige and desirability of the area.

Because of innate pride and respectability most homeowners do try to add to their amenities, but hitherto this has been done with mixed feelings. The reward of virtue is a strange one if it brings a penalty in its wake.

One hopes this motion does not die in a pigeonhole, and that the consideration sought does eventuate in permitting local authorities to allow some tax relief of this nature. It certainly would be well deserved.

Interpreting the News

The Changing Tides

By DAVID ROWNTREE Canadian Press Staff Writer

IT'S still not cricket, in some people's minds, to talk or try to do something about the internal affairs of a friendly country.

But events in London and at the United Nations recently show that the rule is being changed and that the old definition of "internal affairs" is becoming hazy.

When South Africa was subjected to determined criticism of apartheid and decided to withdraw from the Commonwealth, Prime Minister Menzies of Australia voiced a worry of traditionalists.

Apartheid, he said, "is as much a matter of domestic policy to South Africa as Australia's immigration policy is a matter for us," perhaps indicating that Menzies expects to be the target at next year's Commonwealth meeting for his country's dealings with Asiatiks.

At the United Nations, the United States has been accused of opportunism by some of its allies.

Belgium complains that the U.S. is deserting its friends in NATO in debates over the former Belgian Congo. Portugal is incensed at American support for "interference in an integral part of a unitary national" meaning an inquiry into Angola's racial trouble.

Canadian Press Staff Writer

The American position is that if its voice is to be listened to in Africa and Asia, as President Kennedy wants it to be, the U.S. must not only say it is against colonialism and apartheid but prove by its actions to be against them.

Britain is moving more slowly in these changing tides than some of her Commonwealth partners or the U.S. Prime Minister Macmillan wished to retain the club spirit that until recently was the group's strongest cement and at the UN Britain continues to hold to the doctrine of non-interference.

Even when a country decides to go with the tide, the change can be viewed suspiciously.

South African External Affairs Minister Eric Louw, for example, questioned Prime Minister Diefenbaker's sincerity in opposing apartheid. Louw said the Canadian "has been losing ground at home" and was pandering to anti-South African feeling.

And American officials are under-

Thinking Aloud In Geneva Talks

" . . . of shoes — and ships — and sealing wax — of cabbages and kings"

By TOM TAYLOR

HAPPENING on a poet's rhapsody about "ruby-red lips" I took a private and secret peep at my male colleagues. Their unadorned lips are pale insipid things I must admit, not calculated to arouse any great emotions. The female lips of our office, of course, I couldn't examine closely for various reasons, one being that mildly covers hers. Not unattractively either I will say, but in a manner to make one wonder nevertheless if the "ruby-red" of poetic inspiration are in large part myth. However the world would lose its gaiety if lipstick were abandoned.

Never before probably have I heard so many adverse comments on the low level of debate in the legislature as this year. If I am to judge by what my ears tell me most people have been dismayed by the displays of illtemper and boorish behavior. By their lack of appropriate decorum members are bringing what should be a respected institution into disrepute. It is also a serious affront to the idea of democracy, which should carry with it a corresponding degree of responsibility.

The latter includes a restraint sadly lacking these past few weeks. One woman told me of taking her young daughters to see the legislature in session but — and fortunately as it turned out — being unable to get in because of the large number of spectators. "I was so glad afterwards," she said, "I would have hated them to see such example of quarrelling and rudeness among adults." And yet groups of young people are frequently enjoined to watch the sage processes of democracy at work in James Bay!

Nothing succeeds like knocking the favorites out of the sports prizes. The topcranker lost the Grand National and in both England and Canada the leading contenders in national games are finding the path to victory arduous. Across the Atlantic the athletic Tottenham Hotspurs, bidding for both cup and league honors, are faltering in their closing strides for absolute supremacy. At home the two Canadian ice hockey clubs, the Canadiens and the Maple Leafs, are being treated with disdain in the playoffs after leading the league all winter. Eminence does not seem to faze the supposedly lesser clubs in either country.

Incidentally the technical aspect of televised hockey is exceedingly good. The CBC camera follows the play with amazing facility in view of the fast pace of ice hockey, and altogether do a very fine job. Watching a game on TV makes one realize, also, that the small screen reflects the play more accurately than does a seat in the arena. The disparity sometimes of the broadcaster's comments indicates that from his lofty perch he cannot see the play as closely as does the person sitting at home and following the camera. Which, come to think of it, is irony indeed.

Also incidentally, the elegant pen of the London Times' football correspondent, taking note of the robust tactics of an English League team against a Scottish League team, says of the latter that it was subject to a great deal of physical restraint "which would have been more appropriate from a Canadian ice hockey side." Our fellows must have a rugged reputation across the Atlantic. A good job, perhaps, the Stanley Cup playoffs are not being abroad. Our good clean fun would be misinterpreted.

Since the Maritime Museum needs funds to keep it going one good reason for transferring it to a downtown Victoria location, I imagine, is that this might provide the money required. Historically its present site is suitable but the plain truth is that the museum is too far out of town for ready or steady public patronage. Were it somewhere in the heart of the city, visitors would have easy access to it — and on foot. Tourists doing the town would be tempted to include it in their strolls. And that would seem to be a powerful argument since enough admissions could keep the museum solvent.

The Absent Cast a Shadow

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL From Paris

THE Geneva three-power negotiations on a permanent ban on nuclear test explosions have been resumed under the shadow cast by two absent parties—France, which has already exploded some atomic devices, and Communist China, which has expressed the determination to become a nuclear power.

The shadow of the absentees is looming larger because the present prospects of overcoming the remaining technical differences among the negotiating parties appear so much better than before. Indeed, the new determination of President Kennedy's administration to accept the risks of less than absolutely watertight inspection rather than the risk of an indefinite increase in the number of nuclear powes has caused a wave of optimism among Western and neutral opinion. But for that very reason, the moment has now come when the problem of getting agreement from the crucial outsiders has to be faced.

The French attitude has so far been that they will not stop the development of their own nuclear weapons unless there is an agreement to start nuclear disarmament of all atomic powers, both as regarding bomb stocks and means of delivery. And it is at least conceivable that even without such a wider agreement, France would stop her tests in return for receiving certain ready-made atomic weapons in the framework of NATO. Such a redistribution of the Western deterrents could be arranged without substantially altering the balance of power between East and West, or substantially increasing the risk of nuclear war.

For that reason, Russia might not be seriously opposed to admitting France on such terms; the French Communists have never seriously opposed de Gaulle's ambition for an independent deterrent, and Russian diplomats have in informal conversation positively encouraged their French opponents to go ahead with it.

The case of Communist China is quite different. As China has already the largest conventional army in the world, her equipment with nuclear weapons would make a substantial difference to the balance of world power. Moreover, China has not only shown far less concern verbally about the dangers of nuclear war than any other great power; she is involved in a territorial dispute with the U.S. whom she accuses of illegally occupying part of her national territory, the island of Formosa.

Peking has so far consistently refused to renounce her "rights" to use force for "liberating" the island; and in a recent interview her foreign minister even stated that if offered a seat in the U.N. China would refuse it so long as Formosa remained occupied by U.S. troops.

A Chinese agreement on the test ban, at the price of getting nuclear weapons from her Soviet ally would thus not be acceptable from the Western point of view, nor probably even from that of Russia. On the contrary, it would destroy the main political usefulness of any test ban agreement. The crucial question then arises whether the Russian government is still able whether they are in such a position to make Peking conform to such an agreement at a lesser price—to make her, in fact, accept her permanent exclusion from the nuclear club.

It is because of doubts on this question, reportedly expressed by Mr. Khrushchev in his recent talk with U.S. Ambassador Thompson, that the Western mood of optimism has recently begun to be overlaid by new anxieties. Mr. Khrushchev is said not only to have raised the need for a French signature, which is only reasonable, but to have hinted that he could obtain Chinese agreement and yet resist the Chinese demand for nuclear weapons only in the context of a much more far-reaching agreement on general disarmament. For that reason he is said to have given the impression that he was no longer interested in getting the permanent test ban agreed as a "pilot project" ahead of a general disarmament treaty.

If this is really so, the hitherto best hope of an East-West agreement in a limited but vital sector would be greatly reduced; for the difficulties of negotiating a treaty on "general and total disarmament" are, of course, far more formidable. The most optimistic interpretation of his attitude would be that, aware of the Kennedy administration's keenness on a permanent test ban, he is trying to link it up with his proposals for "general and total disarmament" in order to increase U.S. willingness to meet him on the latter. But these might be dangerous tactics, for any delay in the test agreement increases the chances that independent nuclear bombs may be developed by China and other powers in the mean time.

But it is also likely that the Chinese, though frankly disbelieving in the possibility of general disarmament, have replied to Soviet feelers on a test ban with conditions which amount to such a linkup with broader issues. For instance, the Chinese have long been seeking, with Soviet support, for an "atom-free zone in the Pacific" which would obviously enable them to exploit their numerical superiority over their military opponents.

They may well have argued that they could accept their permanent exclusion from the nuclear club only if such a zone was created — yet the Americans could not possibly accept that unless the enormous Chinese army was reduced to more modest proportions. In this way, the problem of general disarmament would arise quite naturally in any attempt to pursue the test ban.

sue the logic of the Chinese conditions.

So that if the Chinese are in a position to put conditions on their agreement to a test ban, these conditions would clearly be of a kind that is either unacceptable to the West or would require years of negotiation, during which Peking would already have become a nuclear power. But to make Peking conform to such a position depends clearly on relations between Moscow and Peking on the degree to which Peking can afford to do without Soviet economic and military aid, and on the degree to which Moscow can afford to be accused of lack of revolutionary solidarity before the Communist world movement.

The significance of last year's "ideological contest" between Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung lies precisely there; it was a full-scale lid by the Chinese to balance their material dependence on Russian aid by making the Soviets ideologically dependent on Chinese consent to their "general line." The formal outcome of the dispute, the Moscow declaration of last December, was too ambiguous to allow a definite judgment of how far they had succeeded. The real outcome will be seen at Geneva in the degree to which the Soviet delegates are free or hamstrung in the pursuit of an agreement that for once lies as much in Moscow's interest as in that of the West.

In France

The Cleanest Money

THE French have suddenly become hygiene-conscious and have launched a many-pronged attack on the poisons and impurities of modern living.

The government and local authorities are leading the way. The Paris city council is concentrating on air pollution, and its first step was to shake the inhabitants of the smart west end of Paris out of their complacency. Their area, the council revealed, has the dirtiest air during the winter because of the smoke from domestic fires. A campaign has begun to educate Parisians in the use of smoke filters before enforcing cleanliness by sterner methods.

The government is supporting the drive by organizing stricter control of radioactive materials in industry. Ministry of Labor inspectors recently reported that in 600 Paris factories and laboratories radioactive waste was a dangerous source of contamination.

The government has also taken steps to make French money the cleanest in the world. All new banknotes are being impregnated with a disinfectant to keep them free of all germs, microbes and bacteria. Not to be outdone, the city council has announced plans for a new water-filtering plant near Orly airport. It will supply the city, the officials say, with water that is not only pure but pleasant to drink. Frenchmen, however, will no doubt remain convinced that wine is the healthiest drink and may show more interest in an investigation into wine recently made by a public-spirited newspaper.

Alarmed by several recent cases of chemical concoctions containing not a drop of grape-juice, being sold as "wine," the paper sent 10 bottles of low-priced wine bought at random to an analyst. To the relief of the nation, they all received a clean bill of health.

Another private initiative is the creation of an organization called "Sanitas" to campaign for healthier food. Sanitas will award its distinctive label to firms producing foodstuffs found free of all impurities.

If a Frenchman is poisoned despite all these attempts to protect him, all he has to do is telephone Botzaris 6329 and a specialist of the "Poisons-Intoxications Centre" will immediately prescribe the correct antidote.

The Packback

Marry a Poor Cook

By GREGORY CLARK

IN the parlor car, the man seated next to me turned out to be a doctor, and in the course of our conversation two very large fat ladies wobbled past us on their way to the dining car.

"Their eyes are glittering," said the doctor, "in expectation of a big steak, French fried potatoes, apple pie and Oka cheese."

I noted that the doctor himself was a very lean man. He was tall and narrow, and his trousered legs looked bony.

"How do you keep in such trim?" I inquired.

"All my family," said he, "are on the lean side. We owe it to the fact that our mother was a very poor cook. I married a woman who is perhaps the worst cook in Canada. I have never had any trouble keeping my weight down."

"Then," I said, "all this education in household science, all these most appetizingly illustrated articles in the papers and magazines about how to cook, all these modern packaged ready-to-cook foods in the supermarkets are responsible for the problem of overweight that we are now facing?"

"Certainly," said the doctor. "The better the housekeepers, the greater the risks of heart disease and other ailments stemming from obesity. If you want to be healthy, marry somebody whose food you don't feel like eating."

We then went into the diner and had steak, French fries, apple pie and Oka.

Letters to the Editor

No Evidence

In the Colonist of March 21st, there is an article entitled "We did what God wanted us to do," stating it to have come from the Prime Minister of South Africa. Human nature being what it is, we insist on verification before there is any affirmation. There can be no dogmatic thinking about something of which there is no absolute evidence. For such a statement to have been made would, in my estimation, indicate an immature mind.

VERA BROTHERSTON.

550 Dallas Road.

Blowing the Tory Bugle

That "organ of no clique or party" is at it again. In its editorial of Sunday, March 26, the Colonist takes a strangely customary stand for an "independent newspaper" that of blowing the Tory bugle. However, this time the Colonist really outdoes itself by offering this shining bit of intelligence—that because Canada's defence minister and her external affairs minister are diametrically opposed to one another on the role Canada should take militarily, this "is the course that any sensible nation should pursue."

Mr. Markness, as the public will readily recall, has been busily branding everyone who opposes his policies, including the finest external affairs minister Canada has ever had, the Hon. Lester B. Pearson—as "neutrality" or "pacifists." The unfortunate part of this irresponsible claim is that Mr. Green takes the same logical stand as Mr. Pearson—if Canada arms herself with nuclear weapons, there is no reason why a score of other nations shouldn't follow exactly the same course. Yet, the Colonist insists, "there is no conflict of overall federal policy here."

This is just about as well based on logic and common sense as Mr. Gagliardi's recent claims that the faster you drive the safer you are, and the more taxes you pay, the richer you grow.

WALTER BELL,
President,
Victoria University Liberal Club.

Federation View

An editorial in the Colonist of March 22, made reference to the unemployed pickets, and the march to the legislative buildings, which was described as "a noisy demonstration."

It was implied that this action taken by the jobless would jeopardize the influx of investment capital into the province. We are not so naive as to accept such an assertion.

Excluding the many other factors, the availability of a large pool of unemployed workers upon which to draw, is of primary importance to the attraction of capital, hence the 70-hour-week sweat shops of Quebec and Ontario.

The oft-declared wage structures are not a contributing factor to the snowballing industrial unemployment, the major factors being increasing automation, the widespread use of powered hand tools, the tight money policy of the federal government, huge corporation profits, and the foreign control of a large portion of the economy of Canada, plus the squandering of millions of our tax dollars on the purchase and production of weapons of war which become obsolete before completion.

We are quite aware that we are in the throes of a greater industrial revolution than that of the 19th century, but unlike our forefathers, we shall not be forced to submit ourselves to decades of unemployment, loss of our goods and chattels, the semi-starvation of our families, or until our ranks are suitably decimated by another war.

We unemployed workers of all political creeds, reject the presumption that we should passively accept privation and indefinite unemployment as our pre-ordained lot. We will continue, with increasing militancy, to make our voices heard until our just demands for work have been granted.

Russians Told

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Canada rejected Tuesday a Soviet contention that its troops have no business in the United Nations Congo force because it is a member of NATO.

Senator F. M. Blois, Canadian delegate to the budgetary committee, attacked the Russian position in a speech on the UN Congo force's tangled financial affairs—a problem that has catapulted the UN into its worst money crisis.

The Soviet bloc refuses to pay anything for the Congo force and has called for the dismissal of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld as guilty of responsibility in the slaying of Patrice Lumumba.

"My delegation finds intolerable the malicious and totally unfounded statement alleging the secretary-general's complicity in murder," Blois declared.

Legislature

Bennett No Longer
In Complete Control

But he was deeply angered by Mr. Sheppard's decision.

Then, too, there was the opposition . . .

Premier Bennett has been master of the situation during the past four years and used to score heavily off CCF leader Robert Strachan.

Wild statements from a wild man, the premier would call across the legislature and Mr. Strachan would promptly oblige by losing his temper.

For much of this session the shoe was on the other foot. Mr. Strachan would sit back in his chair whenever the premier rose to speak, smiling benignly until the premier, his arms waving and his voice quivering hit on something which the CCF chieftain took exception to.

Then he would merely rise to his feet until Premier Bennett was forced to stop in mid-flight.

"Mr. Speaker," Mr. Strachan would say quietly. "The premier has gone into orbit again. Would you please ask him to withdraw."

FEW SECONDS

In nearly every case Premier Bennett would blanch in anger, his trait of thought interrupted, and within a few seconds would be back in his seat, letting another speaker carry the ball.

Premier Bennett openly glared at the opposition during much of the session and on occasion would stalk from the assembly chamber in an apparent rage.

But there was one point upon which both the government and the 16-member CCF apparently saw eye to eye.

Both heaped scorn on the four-man Liberal group, sitting in a knot at the far end of the chamber. It was obvious that both the Liberals and the CCF want to keep a two-party political system in B.C. and the existence of four Liberals is a threat.

SHOUT TO BENNETT

"If we get 'em again, I'll vote with you," said Randolph Harding (CCF—Kaslo-Slocan) in a shout to Premier Bennett after the Liberals had voted with the official opposition.

Liberal leader Ray Perrault got his own back shortly after.

"Are you voting with us this time?" he inquired when the next vote came up.

For Mr. Perrault and his three colleagues it was a trying experience. Apart from North Vancouver's Gordon Gibson none had had any legislative or parliamentary experience before this session and a lot of the time was spent "learning the ropes."

Their job wasn't made easier by the constant sniping of the other two parties.

The opposition, still smarting over its election defeat last September, came armed for combat.

Gordon Gibson, the Liberal who really started the fight which led to the conviction of former lands and forests minister Robert E. Sommers, had his revenge with a hellfire and brimstone speech in which he linked the government with scandal.

The CCF and the Liberals ripped into Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi over his recent contempt of court conviction and the handling of highways department contracts.

There was the fight over the Columbia-Rivers power schemes, an alleged breakdown in provincial social welfare services, and of course the labor legislation.

Whenever the going became hot and heavy—and this happened frequently—wild name-calling back and forth was the order of the day. The result did nothing to enhance the prestige of the B.C. legislature.

As matters stand at present it would appear the situation could get worse rather than better in the three years before the next election.

What can be done about it?

PUNISHING PACE

The punishing pace on which the session concluded has led to demands for a revision of legislative proceedings so that a 30-minute time limit for ordinary members and an hour limit for cabinet ministers would be rigidly enforced during the session.

CCF leader Robert Strachan told the premier that his group would agree to such a change if the government opened up the whole subject of legislative standing orders for review.

WOULDN'T AGREE

"He wouldn't agree to that," Mr. Strachan told the Colonist, "because he knows that no matter how the investigating committee was loaded better rules for debate would be forthcoming."

Liberal leader Ray Perrault took a different view.

The limiting of debate in the early part of the session, he said, would result in nothing but a shorter session.

EXHAUSTION

All governments, said Mr. Perrault, including the former Liberal administrations, had used the "legislation by exhaustion" technique.

"All it would mean is that we'd get out of Victoria a week or so earlier," said Mr. Perrault. "We'd still have that terrible drive for prorogation during the last few weeks."

Fence Dropped For Peace Arch

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The contrary to Soviet thinking to vice-president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences Tuesday denied U.S. reports that seven Russian astronauts have died in space shots.

Alexander Topchiev rapped the reports at a rare press conference on space tests.

He also said there had been highly refined but apparently harmless changes in the nuclear structure of cells of the living organisms sent up in Soviet space ships.

Asked why Russia never announced space tests in advance, Topchiev said, "Sensationalism is alien to us. Modesty prompts us to announce the launching only when it has taken place."

Topchiev maintained it was

Happy Wings Scent Final Playoff Berth

Happy grins on faces of Detroit Red Wings express mood of their dressing room after 4-1 defeat of Toronto Maple Leafs that gave Detroit 3-1 lead in best-of-seven Stanley Cup hockey series. Red Wings Continue To Trample Toronto

DETROIT—Terry Sawchuk and Gordie Howe, the backbone of Detroit in the Red Wings' glory days, lifted them to within one victory of a stunning Stanley Cup upset here last night with a 4-1 win over the reeling Toronto Maple Leafs.

The incomparable Howe set up Leo Labine for a goal that tied the score at 1-1 in the first period, and 11:20 of the second he sent a crowd of 13,000 into near hysterics by scoring what proved to be the winning goal.

Sawchuk, beaten by Bert Olmstead early in the game, made 32 saves as did Leafs' Johnny Bower, and was the key man in blocking off the desperate Leafs.

STRONG BID
Toronto pulled out all the stops in a bid to win last night and tie the series.

They flew in Olmstead from Toronto at the last moment and put him on the ice still hobbling slightly from a knee injury suffered in the first game of the playoff. They reactivated centre Red Kelly, out of action with a groin injury since March 5, and went into the game at full strength for the first time in the series.

ON POWER PLAY

For a while, it seemed the move had paid off. Olmstead, apparently fully recovered, banged the puck past Sawchuk at 12:52 on a power play when referee Frank Udvari ruled Ron Stewart had interfered with Marcel Pronovost before scoring. That was to be the Leafs' last chance.

After Howe set up Labine to tie the score with 52 seconds left in the period, and put Wings ahead in the second, Pronovost made it 3-1 early in the third period and Val Fonteyne slipped the puck into the empty net in the final minute as Leafs pulled Bower to try for two quick ones.

JUST WONDERFUL

"He was wonderful, just wonderful," Wings' general manager Jack Adams told reporters later, beaming at Sawchuk.

"The boys are working their guts out, and that trade with Boston started us off. And Howie Young is playing tremendous hockey for us, hitting everybody and making the rest of the team hit too."

IT'S SKEIN IT

"More power to the Leafs if they can beat us three straight now," Adams concluded. "And don't say it couldn't happen, because I've been around the league long enough to know it can." But he didn't sound as though he believed it.

It was a different story in the Toronto dressing room, where even the typical Punch imitator defiance sounded like whistling past a graveyard.

'It Went Too Fast For Normal Fire'

KELOWNA (CP)—A member of the B.C. fire marshal's office is investigating possibility of arson in a $300,000 fire, second major packing house fire here in less than a month.

Fire Chief Charles Pettman said after the fire was brought under control after a four-hour fight against deadly cyanide gas fumes there is "no actual evidence of arson."

But, he added, "it appears to have got away too fast for a normal fire."

Mayor Dick Parkinson said he was sure an arsonist was responsible for the fire. S. Sgt. M. N. Macalpine of the RCMP detachment here declined to comment but said police are investigating a previous small fire and an $800,000 fire that destroyed several warehouses March 14.

While firemen from three departments fought the blaze, the second in as many weeks a 12,000-volt power line was in danger of parting over their heads.

At one point deadly cyanide gas from fertilizer stored in one of the buildings rose with smoke around the fire-fighters.

A giant packinghouse of Kelowna Growers Exchange in a warehouse complex near the railway yards here, and the Occidental Packinghouse cold storage plant adjacent to it were destroyed.

On March 14 four of the KGE packinghouses were destroyed in an $800,000 blaze. Another building was badly damaged at that time.

Mayor Parkinson said: "There's something awfully fishy about this fire. It must have been a firebug."

Wild Oryx Shot Down

LONDON (Reuters)—Hunters using machine-guns and rifles have virtually wiped out the world's last wild herd of the Arabian oryx, a straight-horned antelope found on the southern Arabia desert, says I.A. Col. C. L. Byle, secretary of the Fauna Preservation Society.

Judge Lashes Police Story

'Took Liberties with Truth to Clear Captain'

MONTREAL (CP)—Police witnesses got a severe tongue-lashing from Mr. Justice Roger Oulmet of Quebec Superior Court Tuesday for taking "liberties with the truth" in a civil action against a police officer.

Mr. Justice Oulmet ordered the city of Montreal and police Capt. Marcel Masson to pay truck driver Andre de Coell, $246 damages for a 1959 accident. The plaintiff's truck and a police car driven by Capt. Masson collided.

The judge said he was

"most unfavorably impressed" mind, he said, "that they seemed to have taken extraordinary liberties with the truth for policemen."

He suspended Capt. Masson's licence for three months.

Fines, Suspension of Licence Sequel to High-Speed Chase

Two men were fined on three charges in Oak Bay police court yesterday, in the wake of an early-morning chase at high speed through streets of the municipality.

Answering a prowler complaint at 2:10 a.m., Oak Bay police followed a car from Haultain to Kinross, through a stop sign at Cadboro Bay, and north to Estevan, where the car was stopped after a six block run at speeds up to 60 miles an hour.

George A. R. Reader, 1746 Island Highway, pleaded guilty to driving while under suspension, and careless driving. On the first charge he was fined $150 and prohibited from driving anywhere in Canada, or in default 14 days; on the second, $75 or in default seven days.

Kenneth Roy Henry Tidbury, 1719 Emerson, owner of the car but a passenger at the time, pleaded guilty to theft under $50 value—a $150 flashlight.

He had taken it a few minutes before from a car in the garage of Wilbur Wilson, 2012 Haultain, "to examine his tires," he said.

Fining Tidbury $35, Magistrate William Ostler said he was doing so since this was a first offence, but added that he was deeply concerned by the circumstances of the case, even though the amount involved was trifling.

In city court Gerald James Moss, 790 Cave, was fined $20 after pleading guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor. Moss, 20, was found with five bottles of beer in the back seat of his car.

Three persons were fined in Sidney police court for possession of liquor on an Indian reservation, following a recent police check.

Thomas Albert Lamb, 2003 Cameron, was fined $10; Mrs. Harriet Warren, 2005 Cam-

Indecent Assault Trial Commences

Trial of Charles T. Staples, 520 Easter, on a charge of indecent assault on a five-year-old girl, opened before Mr. Justice David Verchere and a jury in B.C. Assize Court yesterday.

The trial, which followed a preliminary hearing in Saanich police court, is expected to take about three days.

William John Stewart, Kemp Lake Road, Sooke, found guilty in the same court Monday of criminally negligent driving, is expected to be sentenced for the offence Thursday morning.

He was remanded in custody following his conviction.

Whole Family Dies in Fire, Bodies Hunted

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A family of 11, possibly 12, died yesterday in a fire which destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Whitehead in the nearby rural community of Doisonville.

Sheriff Kenneth Albright's office said 10 bodies, most of them children, were recovered within a few hours from the smoldering embers. Firemen sought two more believed to be in the debris.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead and their nine children lived in a five-room log house, along with Mrs. Whitehead's father, Albert Gibbs.

The children ranged in age from 13 years to nine months.

Doisonville is a small, rural community a few miles south of the Kentucky-Tennessee border.

Good Health Dangerous?

VANCOUVER (CP)—A medical specialist said here Monday good health may increase susceptibility to certain virus diseases.

Prof. Thomas Anderson, professor of infectious diseases at Glasgow University, said it seems possible that as the level of human nutrition improves cells become better supporters of viruses.

CLIMATIC CHANGE

Delivering the Canadian Tuberculosis Association lectureship to the annual scientific session of the College of General Practice, an association of family doctors, he indicated also that climatic changes may also enhance virus susceptibility.

When sudden climatic changes occur the respiratory system may be strained and

Car Careens Across Lawn

A collision, battered car plowed into a flower bed just short of a Richmond Road home last night after the driver and passenger were thrown to the ground by a second car at Haultain intersection.

Cecil H. Dash, 1912 Carnarvon, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital in the city police ambulance while his wife Elizabeth was taken in a Saanich police car.

LATER RELEASED

Both were treated for shock and bruises and later released. Emergency vehicles from both Saanich and the city answered a call for help as the spectacular crash occurred on the boundary.

A large crowd that closed in on the accident scene minutes after the crash hampered police efforts to get the injured persons to hospital.

AVOID CONGESTION

Police re-routed the heavy Richmond traffic in an effort to avoid congestion.

Police said the driver of the other car, which was just starting across Richmond when the collision occurred, was James Nelson, 275 Sooke Road. He was not hurt.

The Dash car careened across the lawn of a home at 2543 Richmond where two Victoria University students were studying.

"I heard the crash and looked out the window in time to see the car coming toward the house," said Ann Marie Reynolds.

"I grabbed some blankets and went out to them. Each of them was worried about how the other was," Miss Reynolds said.

Career Climax

Gilliland Wins $7,500 Award

John Michael Gilliland of Victoria, a post-graduate science student at the University of B.C., has been awarded a $7,500 fellowship by Imperial Oil Ltd.

The fellowship, one of five awarded yesterday to students in Canadian universities, covers a three-year period leading to a doctorate in science.

It climaxes a brilliant academic career in local schools and at Victoria University before going to UBC.

Mr. Gilliland is the son of Prof. H. C. Gilliland and Mrs. Gilliland, 840 Richmond. Prof. Gilliland is head of the department of education at Victoria University.

After winning many scholarship awards during his high school days, John Gilliland, while a student at Victoria High School in 1956, received the Governor-General's Silver Medal for the highest junior matriculation standing in the province.

He tallied first-class honors standing in his first and second year examinations at Victoria University and went on to UBC where he received a B.Sc. degree and won a $1,800 National Research Council scholarship for post-graduate studies.

The government should be seeking means of reducing tariffs and other man-made obstacles to foreign trade, not increasing them, as seems to be the desperation policy of the present government," said Mr. Groos.

"The government should be providing healthy tax incentives to industry in the export business. It should be in constant consultation with labor and management in an effort to decrease by every means possible the unit cost of our goods," he said.

"These measures... we believe will stimulate trade and start us on the way toward a solution of our unemployment problem."

These awards will be presented during the Grand Masters banquet in the Crystal ballroom at 6:30 p.m. today.

During yesterday afternoon's session, the title of the chief administrative officer of the Supreme Council was changed from secretary-general to grand secretary. The former title was retired in honor of the memory of the founder of DeMolay, Frank S. Land, who died Nov. 8, 1959.

The annual obligatory observance of conferring the honor of Chevaliers was also honored from Oct. 15 to Nov. 8 in memory of Mr. Land.

Host of the four-day meeting at the Empress Hotel is Dr. Gordon F. Grant, of Victoria, executive officer in charge of the 26 chapters in B.C. who will be awarded the Supreme Council's Sweepstake Award for outstanding achievements in DeMolay endeavors.

Victoria chapter will receive the "Chapter of the Year" plaque for being the most outstanding of 2,181 chapters in 12 countries.

In a Salt Spring Garden

Grinning Skull Greet Digger

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD, Salt Spring Island—The Olsons of Beaver Point haven't got a skeleton rattling in the closet. There is in the garden patch. Correction—it was in the garden patch. Mrs. Rudy Olson was churning the spring soil under a rear window. Suddenly, "there he was—grinning at me," she said. "And he had a wonderful set of teeth, especially the lower ones." Anywhere else, such a confrontation would convert a green thumb into a hitchhiker's pointing to far-away places.

But on Salt Spring residents hardly stop hoeing, according to records.

Many skeletons have been found in the past in all parts of the island. Years ago Indians buried their dead in scattered districts.

The big difference in the Beaver Point find is that the skeleton was whole. Others had been plowed under or broken up in digging.

The skeleton was taken to Victoria by RCMP Sunday for study.

The Olsons, who have lived at Beaver Point for two years, are undisturbed by thought of "neighbors" beneath the succotash. "We love the place," they said.

Ottawa CCF Resumes Anti-Pipeline Filibuster

OTTAWA (CP)—A CCF Hon. Douglas Harkness in the House of Commons today resumed his filibuster against a bill to incorporate an American-controlled pipeline company. The government ignored the suggestion.

It was the eighth time that the bill to incorporate the Aurora Pipeline Company had been before the House. On each occasion the eight-man CCF-New Party Parliamentary group has attacked it as a "sellout" of Canadian resources to Americans.

The company seeks to build a pipeline to export Alberta petroleum byproducts to the United States.

Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) suggested that the government replace

Groos Raps Tories

'Desperation Policy' Doesn't Ease Slump

The federal government didn't deliberately bring on the economic recession which has thrown 700,000 Canadians out of work but it could help ease the degree of recession, David Groos said last night.

The Liberal candidate for Esquimalt-Saanich in the coming federal byelection said at Sidney there is a need for government action in reducing taxes, to encourage manufacturers and producers of goods and jobs.

The government should also set up an economic advisory board with a planning staff to make plans for the recovery and expansion of both domestic and international trade, he said.

"Our government should be seeking means of reducing tariffs and other man-made obstacles to foreign trade, not increasing them, as seems to be the desperation policy of the present government," said Mr. Groos.

"The government should be providing healthy tax incentives to industry in the export business. It should be in constant consultation with labor and management in an effort to decrease by every means possible the unit cost of our goods," he said.

"These measures... we believe will stimulate trade and start us on the way toward a solution of our unemployment problem."

B.C. Official Being Stupid Edgelow Says

A senior provincial forest service official "is being stupid" in insisting that the city of Victoria maintain a fire warden in an area overlooked by a forest service lookout tower.

The charge came from city public works chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow yesterday during committee discussion of a $2,000 budget item covering the salary of a fire warden at Thetis Lake.

He suggested eliminating the item from the budget and letting the forest service "sue us."

City officials pointed out that they had conferred with a senior forest official over the matter in the past and that the forest service would not allow the city to eliminate the fire warden.

"I think the man is being stupid," Ald. Edgelow said.

FAIRLY RECENT

He claimed the forest service requirement was fairly recent, and remarked that the official had either been negligent in the past or "is trying to be difficult now."

Ald. Edgelow was equally critical of the warden.

"We practically have to have a policeman following him to see that he goes into the woods," he said.

He said the warden "stood around and watched the swimmers and got in the road."

A forest fire lookout tower commands the area from a nearby mountain 24 hours a day during the fire season, he added.

ANY BETTER

"How can one man do any better?"

He told the committee he has lived adjacent to the park for 15 years and that there has never been a forest fire there during that time.

"It just doesn't seem reasonable to have this man walk around where all the people are anyway," he stated.

Ald. Edgelow agreed to accompany city officials on a further mission to the forest service in order to get the requirement lifted.

He was warned that if the city simply failed to provide a warden the forest service might tender a large bill for its services if a forest fire ever broke out in the city-owned area.

Dairy's Fight Still On?

Saanich's Milky Way Dairy may not be out of the woods as far as its 64-ounce cartons is concerned.

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter said yesterday his department would study and give consideration to a report by the legislative committee on agriculture which recommended the sale of 64-ounce cartons be permitted in B.C.

But, he added, there were still provisions under the Act whereby Milky Way could be forced to stop selling the odd-size carton.

The dairy has been engaged in a running fight with the B.C. agriculture department over the continued use of the cartons.

"The status quo will be kept at present," said Mr. Richter, "but we will be looking into it."

Pupils Off Thursday Builders Move In Teachers Take Trip

Some 22,500 students attending 45 Greater Victoria schools begin their 10-day Easter vacation when classes end Thursday.

They return to school Monday, April 10.

School officials and teachers, meanwhile, will be busy at tasks ranging from consideration of the recommendations contained in the Chant report on B.C. education to teacher recruitment for the new school year beginning in September.

In at least three schools, the excited buzz of conversation as pupils discuss their plans this week will be replaced by hammering and sawing as construction of new classrooms begins.

A school board spokesman said yesterday it is hoped construction of classroom additions at Gordon Head and Frank Hobbs elementary schools and at Esquimalt High School will be in "high gear" by next week.

LEAD DELEGATION

F. J. Cairnie, president of Greater Victoria Teachers Association, will lead a delegation of 25 other local teachers attending sessions of the B.C. Teachers' Federation convention in Vancouver starting Monday.

From the school board here, H. Drummond Dee, director of secondary education, and H. C. O'Donnell, director of elementary education, will also be in Vancouver next week to begin recruitment of new teachers for next year.

Chief Isn't Worried About Radar Alarm

Saanich Police Chief W. A. Pearson isn't worried about yesterday's announcement that an American electronics company is manufacturing devices to warn motorists of the presence of police radar traps.

The gadget, about the size of two cigaret packages and retailing for about $40, is supposed to buzz when the motorist comes within one quarter-mile of radar speed-tracking equipment.

"I couldn't care less," said Chief Pearson. He doesn't think it will work on Saanich's radar apparatus.

"Ours is not the ordinary type of old-style, relatively low frequency radar in general use and even used by RCMP. Our beam operates at 198,000 vibrations per second and to calibrate any mechanical device to interrupt the beam would be difficult to do," he said.

"This is as foolproof as any mechanical device that can be made," and the only known way of interfering with its beam would be the operation of a similar device to jam the readings, said Mr. Pearson.

One tube alone in the set costs at least $200, he added.

"It would be much simpler if people drove within reasonable bounds of the speed limit."

They wouldn't need to buy any gadgets at all," he said.

Official Sendoff for Kiwanis Villa

Cornerstone of new Kiwanis Villa, ultimately to house 74 elderly single persons, was laid on Kiwanis Village site yesterday by Premier Bennett.

Bennett Lauds Club As New Villa Started

In congratulatory and jocular mood after the legislative session, Premier W. A. C. Bennett yesterday laid the cornerstone of Kiwanis Village—newest addition to Victoria's biggest low-rent housing project for elderly people.

The premier paid tribute to the Kiwanis Club whose work had made the project possible—commending members for raising funds without loans.

He pointed out the provincial government's support of such projects for the aged, which raises the first 10 per cent necessary for such a project would receive, he said, one-third of its objective from the provincial government.

Premier Bennett also commended the city for helping make low rentals possible by exempting the project from taxation.

R. N. E. Harris, president of the Kiwanis Village Society, told the group attending the ceremony that 50 cottages were already built and occupied by elderly couples or, in some cases, single people.

HOUSE 74 The Villa, when complete, will house 74 elderly single persons in units of a one-floor apartment-style building. First portion to be built, he said, should be completed by Aug. 15 of this year, and will house 50 tenants.

"All of this has been possible through the generous support of the people of Victoria in our annual campaigns; from special donations, and with the help of the province," he said.

Congratulations of Victoria were extended by Mayor Percy Scurrah, who emphasized the vital importance of such a project in a city inhabited by so many elderly people attracted by the mild climate.

GREAT SERVICE "This," he added, "is a great community service."

Other speakers included Kiwanis officials Ron Lochhead, Ernie Miller, and Victoria club president Jack Lee. The cornerstone was dedicated by Rev. W. G. Wilson.

20 More Canadians

About 20 persons will become Canadian citizens during a naturalization ceremony at the court house at 10 a.m. Thursday.

They will then be welcomed as Canadians by the Women's Canadian Club, under the auspices of the Greater Victoria Citizenship Council.

Edgelow Melts Snow Bill

In slashing an item of $3,500 from the proposed 1961 city budget yesterday the public works committee defied the methods of long-range weather forecasting and pinned its hopes to the Japanese current.

The committee, edged on by chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow's conviction that the Japanese current is swinging south of its traditional course and bringing milder winters with it, shipped from the budget all provision for snow removal in October, November and December this year.

"The last two winters have definitely been better," Ald. Edgelow assured a somewhat doubtful City Engineer James Garnett and Comptroller James Bramley.

RAFFLED OFF In the past, the Greater Victoria celebrations group raffled off a car to raise funds, but several years ago municipal councils decided that there should be no hint of gambling in the committee's affairs and it was dropped.

TRAFFIC ISLAND Work Starting City public works crews will start work within a week on construction of a traffic island on Cedar Hill Road at the south side of the Hillside intersection.

May 24 Celebrations

'Needle' Proposed For Public Apathy

'Banana Belt' Attitude

Needling the public into giving donations was suggested last night as one cure for the financial troubles besetting Greater Victoria's annual May 24 celebrations.

A. E. MacFayden, vice-president of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, told a meeting of the group that people of this area should be "needled out of their false sense of security."

BANANA BELT

He said: "Most of the people have lived for so long out here in the Banana Belt that they are scared to get off the seat of their pants and make a donation."

Nevertheless, said Mr. MacFayden, thousands turn out each year to watch the Victoria Day parade and enjoy the weekend program of events arranged by the celebrations association.

BENDED KNEE

"Every year for the past 10 years we have had to get down on bended knee to get the funds to keep this organization running," he said. "I think it is a disgrace for this community of 105,000 people."

Earlier, association president Joseph Wright told the meeting donations were coming in "fairly well" for this year's celebrations. But he said the group was still faced with the task of "putting on an $8,000 to $10,000 celebration with only about $5,000."

GOLDEN YEARS

Mr. Wright said the "golden years" when there were ample funds for staging the annual celebration are gone for good unless some new way of raising funds was established.

He said a financial statement would be presented at the next monthly meeting of the committee on April 18 at city hall.

RAFFLED OFF

In the past, the Greater Victoria celebrations group raffled off a car to raise funds, but several years ago municipal councils decided that there should be no hint of gambling in the committee's affairs and it was dropped.

EDMOND LEE

Seen In Passing

Edmond Lee on duty at HMCS Malahat. (He is a lieutenant-commander in Victoria's navy reserve division. A scientific officer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich, he and his wife Nellie live at 4020 Prospect Lake Road with their children, Michael, 7, and Leslie-Anna, 6. His chief spare-time interest is the navy reserve.) ... Bert Wood and Jim Fisher, of the Independent Order of Foresters, presenting a $200 cheque to Sermons Boxing Club of Victoria in recognition of its work with city youngsters. ... Vera Waller and Ena Lawlor, talking about a marionette show. ... Irene Foot giggling again. ... Dorothy Lincoln, choking down a valiant sob. ... Victor Mitchell being re-tested for his driver's licence. ... Ian McCall making final arrangements for a presentation. ... Maurice Cowden talking about a project. ... Frank Hunter talking about dancing in the streets. ... Mrs. Ethel Bishop taking notes.

Architect R. W. Siddall told the committee "in my professional opinion the site is quite suitable for a firehall."

NO HAZARD

Construction engineer Reginald Thurner, whose firm conducted soil tests on the site, said "we consider there is no hazard."

Reeve Chatterton, strongly in favor of requisitioning eight acres of land on Haynes Road for the hall and start of a civic centre, said "30 years from now people will say 'it's one of the most far-sighted moves Saanich council ever took.'"

Council would have to pay "very little" for adjacent low land.

School Leaders Eye Future of Education

School superintendents from all parts of B.C. will give their considered views on recommendations contained in the Chant report at a four-day conference starting Tuesday in Victoria.

It will open in Central Junior High School auditorium Tuesday morning with an address of welcome by Education Minister Leslie Peterson followed by greetings from Greater Victoria school board chairman W. C. Gelling.

The 54 district superintendents have spent the last two months preparing their reports for the conference after making a detailed study of the bulky report of the Chant royal commission on education in the province.

MAN IN FIELD

School inspectors and officials of the department of education will bring the total number of delegates attending the intensive, four-day series of meetings up to about 75.

A spokesman for the department said the aim of the meeting is to bring about an exchange of information between "the man in the field and the man at headquarters."

He said the discussions would deal with "the broader aspects" of the future of education as affected by recommendations in the report.

LESS TIME

It is hoped the four days of meetings, from 8.30 a.m. to 5.30 p.m. daily, will result in implementation of recommendations that cannot be covered by legislation—such as the proposal that less time should be wasted in the classroom.

Unofficial sources claim there is also bound to be strong views expressed by many district superintendents on such vital matters as the proposed shift of Grade 7 back to elementary school and dropping of home economics and industrial arts for that year.

City Hall Sale Report Cuts Budget $11,000

Victoria's budget-conscious public works committee yesterday sliced $11,000 off its 1961 estimates on the strength of new reports that someone may buy the city's decrepit city hall.

Committee chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow intimated that a prospective purchaser is in sight and City Manager

C. C. Wyatt indicated agreement, but neither would elaborate.

Mayor Scurrah declined comment.

But with the prospect in sight the committee eliminated a proposed $10,000 rewiring project for the building's badly overloaded electrical system and chopped off a $1,000 fire alarm system.

'Dial Your Own Diagnosis' Or—How Doctors Have Fun

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

DOCTORS AT LARGE: We had one of our mainland agents drop in on the annual convention of the Canadian College of Practitioners in Vancouver and he was somewhat startled at the whole operation.

Seems one of the displays receiving greatest attention is what is known as "A Dial Your Own Diagnosis" board. Doctors dial for clues, perhaps symptoms would be a better word, and then dial their diagnosis.

If they click with the right diagnosis the machine lights up like a jackpot on a pin-ball machine. Medics are getting a big charge out of it.

Another exhibit has this sign overhead: "Inquire about our convention special—this week only. For every three dozen sutures you buy, one needle-driver free!"

Our agent adds this footnote: The 650 doctors attending the convention are meeting just down the road from where "sick" comedian Mort Sahl is appearing nightly.

HELP WANTED: A letter from Nigeria is self-explanatory. "I am an African boy, 18 years old, five feet four inches tall and weigh 125 pounds. I am seeking friends all over the wonderful country of Canadian regardless of age or sex and would like to swap some African articles which I have in my little gift shop for American products. The articles including ivory carvings, ebony candle holders, paper knives, dagger knives, deer skin, handbags with shoulders bags for ladies, alligator skin handbags, slippers, wallets for men women boys and girls.

"All type of animal skin including tiger, antelope, leopard and jaguar in return for wash and wear pants, shirts, jackets, sweaters, shoes socks and belts all in medium sizes. My joy shall have no bound if you could help me. . . May God bless you all (Amen)."

Anyway, if anyone's interested, write to Muba Rhombare, 7 Sawyer Street, Lagos, Nigeria.

WAR AND PEACE: Our legislators may fight tooth and nail when the public eye is on them but underneath they're friends.

Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson, the fiery millionaire logger, the other day invited Premier Bennett, to be his guest at his Fort Vancouver estate in Hawaii. . .

INSIDE STORY: Sunday we reported how the unemployed pickets travelled to federal Finance Minister Donald Fleming's meeting here by taxi.

Okay, okay . . . now we have the other half of the story.

Seems that reporter Tony Dickason of the afternoon bugle was late for the meeting so he grabbed a cab and sped off—to Central Junior High. On arrival he found the place deserted except for three unemployed pickets marching up and down, up and down. . . "What are you doing here?" asked Tony.

They said they were picketing Mr. Fleming's meeting.

Then it suddenly dawned on Tony that the meeting was at S. J. Willis, not Central Junior High.

"Would you like a lift?" asked Tony.

The three pickets gratefully accepted.

And that's how come they arrived at the meeting by taxi.

ADD INFINITES: Dominion Hotel's Max Zahel and wife, according to Kiwanis Club colleagues, are now in some part of Africa where it is very hot (weatherwise, not politically). . . A visitor to the legislative buildings yesterday was former labor minister Lyle Wicks, just finished a six-week course in business administration. You mean he didn't know anything about it in eight years as a cabinet minister? . . . former Victoria Socond M.L.A. Mrs. Lydia Arsenault didn't make it down to the legislature once this session. Too busy. . . Victoria Rotary Club reports that the recent attendance has been "Lousy!"

Elegant Clothes, Beautifully Shown by Couturiers

By MISS LONDON

LONDON — Once again the London Couturiers showed collections that did not, in the main, try to set any new fashion trends, but concentrated on beautifully made, elegant clothes for their own particular clientele.

HARTNELL, is a perfect example of this, his suits having an almost classic fit, yet although emphasizing the waist, they never quite touch it. His skirts are slim and 3" below the knee and jackets with neat lapels are slightly longer than formerly. His day dresses have a front peplum emphasizing the waistline under the bloused tops. He shows a great number of checks and light weight tweeds; colours are navy, grey, beige and mushroom with a dash of turquoise and jade, coral, peach and orange.

HARDY AMIES uses the bias cut for his fine British worsted and tweed suits, with swinging skirts, loose jackets and dresses cut like jumper suits. Some of the skirts are flared or with fluted fullness and tops are long with swathed belts at the hipline. Light topcoats are teamed with contrasting or matching wool suits and fine checked wool dresses.

MICHAEL shows a faultless collection of British wool suits, exquisitely tailored. Jackets are concave at the front and dipping at the back, sometimes so short they only reach the waist. Skirts are cut on the bias the fullness falling to the front. Michael shows jumper suits for every occasion, so simple in line and uncluttered in detail they are a joy to behold, the main interest, apart from the superb cut, being the textures of the fabrics. Michael always shows tweeds. Pinks appear again and again, from the palest sugar almond pink to vivid shocking pink.

John Cavanagh also shows concave fronted suits, with a suggestion of a raised waist, the jackets often swinging away from the body at the back. For skirts there were bias folds, flares and swirling pleats with the hemline just below the knee. Coats also swing away from the body at the back or fall in slight gathers from a high half belt. John Cavanagh shows fine smooth wools as well as slubbed and textured weaves. Navy, sometimes teamed with white, appeared again and again, also black and white, grey and the whole gamut of pastel shades.

Victor Stiebel still favors

High Fashion

The relaxed look of a new blouse top, cinched with a tie-belt is enhanced by its fabric, a soft pebble-knit pure British jersey. Shiny brass buttons and patch pockets add dash. It's designed by Susan Small.

the slim skirt for his extremely lightweight British wool suits, and these were often banded at the bottom, especially when a checked fabric was used. However a smattering of flared and gored skirts were also shown. Jackets were straight and short often with a tiny mandarin collar and a small back vent in the centre of the jacket, others had neat reverse and a banded peplum. Checks and tweeds predominate for suits and dresses. Dressing continued to give the relaxed look with slim skirts and bloused collarless tops, or with figure hugging peplums below the waist, the skirt falling in slight gathers. Apart from fine woven woollens, Stiebel is one of the few couturiers to show jersey.

Ronald Paterson, the Scottish designer, shows suits that carry an incised front and a casual back. More defined models emphasize a definite waist in front with a fabric belt which drops and clings to the hips at the back. Sleeves are more and more magygar and bias cut skirts or straight skirts are gently folded and have all the fullness at the front. Jackets show a variety of bolero types with back fullness over slim short-sleeved dresses, which also have fullness swept to the front. His fabrics are light Scottish tweeds or fine wools for day wear. Stripes, checks and herringbones appear again and again for late day wear. British mills gave him a lovely new chine printed wool, a fine crepe surfaced wool, a beautiful ribbon lace and silk brocade mixed with wool. Predominating colors were all shades of browns, greys, many reds, a glorious emerald and almond green, a little navy and lots of black for evening.

What's Cooking

By LOUNE MOORE

From the house of Heinz come several new items to add to their 57 varieties. They'll add much to the good things on your pantry shelf.

There's a new mustard with a tang and zest—excellent with hot or cold meats, seafoods, poultry, as an ingredient in casseroles, as a honey mustard salad dressing you can whip up in a jiffy, or put right on the table as a condiment.

Their barbecue sauce has a rare combination of ingredients with a natural smoke flavor, and is equally at home with ribs, chicken, hamburgers, hot dogs.

Of the new Heinz soups, there's a condensed macaroni with vegetables and a rich beef broth base. For that bridge luncheon there is a creamy smooth condensed cheese soup. Of the dehydrated soup mixes, there's tomato, mushroom and cream of chicken which makes a rich cream style soup in a matter of minutes.

These products have many other uses and from the kitchen of H. J. Heinz come these suggestions for family treats.

BASIC RECIPE FOR LENTEN DISH

Combine and heat to boiling 1 can of condensed soup undiluted, 1 cup cooked or canned vegetables, 1 cup cooked or canned meat, seafood or poultry, and 1½ cups water.

Pour half the mixture into a 1½ quart casserole. Sprinkle in 1½ cups of packaged, precooked rice, cover with remaining hot mixture. Bake uncovered in 375°F. oven for 10 minutes or until rice is tender. Stir and fluff up rice. Makes 4 servings.

DEVILED EGGS

Cut 6 shelled hard cooked eggs in half lengthwise. Remove yolks, mash well and mix 2 tbsp. Heinz mustard sauce, 2 tbsp. mayonnaise or boiled dressing, 3 slices of crisp bacon crumbled, and dash salt if desired. Refill whites and dust with paprika.

MONEY MUSTARD DRESSING

Combine 2 tbsp. honey, 3 tbsp. Heinz mustard sauce, and 1 cup heavy cream stiffly whipped. Chill. Delicious with fruit salads. Makes 2 cups.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our 19-year-old college daughter phoned to ask if she could bring a young man home for the weekend. She said it was love—and wanted us to meet him.

My husband was opposed to it but I persuaded him to say yes. When we met Marion and the fellow at the train we were stunned. He came with only the clothes on his back—no pajamas, no clean shirt—just a shaving kit.

Saturday evening Marion had open house. It was a horror. The fellow was ill at ease, he didn't fit in with Marion's friends at all and he got himself a little loaded, which complicated matters. My husband was tempted several times during the evening to tell Marion the fellow was a jerk and to unload him at the earliest opportunity. I pleaded with him to keep quiet.

Sunday afternoon before they left Marion got us off to the side and said "I apologize for bringing this creep home. I must have been out of my mind."

Of course we are delighted but what cooled her off so fast?—RELIEVED

Dear Relieved: Smart parents. Had you criticized the boy, Marion would have been forced to defend him and the battle would have been on.

By allowing your daughter to view him in her own surroundings she was able to see for herself that he fitted in like saddle shoes at a coronation ball. That—combined with your silence—did it. Congratulations.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing about a subject that sickens me nearly every time. I pick up a newspaper. I refer to parents who leave very small children alone in a house. Then a fire starts and the little ones burn to death.

Their excuses are always the same—"I went next door for five minutes..." etc., etc. No house burns to the ground in five minutes. And what next door can possibly be more important than the children? These horrible tragedies occur so often you'd think people would learn from the experiences of others—but they don't.

Please, Ann Landers: use your widely read column to remind parents everywhere that small children should never be left unattended. A house may be fire-proofed but children are not. They can get hold of matches, stumble into an open fireplace, and sometimes they "play house" and use the kitchen stove.

If I see this letter in the paper I will feel better because I'll know millions of others will be seeing it, too.—DISTURBED

Dear Disturbed: Here it is—

Tips for Parents

By HELEN E. HEWSON

Our little boy, age eight months, is already showing signs of having a mind of his own, of wanting to take a hand in looking after himself. He grabs the spoon when I am feeding him, rolls, kicks and tries to sit up when being dressed and changed, and every bath is a shower—for mother.

"How can I do the things that need to be done without quenching his budding urge to do it himself?"

Go along with him, roll with the punches. Wise and observant parents have always taken their cues from the child. There is the very old two-spoon routine. Give the grabber a spoon but keep another firmly in your hand for the real business of feeding.

He will probably wave, bang and drop his spoon, he may poke at the food and get a few morsels into his mouth, certainly some will reach the floor. From these clumsy and untidy beginnings he learns to feed himself and to enjoy doing it.

KEEP BUSY

Keep his hands busy when he begins to reach and grab before he is able to do things for himself. Some of the most interesting bath toys are found in the kitchen, plastic funnels, plastic measuring cups and other containers.

Scooping up the bath water, pouring it through the funnel or from one vessel to another will keep him busy while mother snaps and scrubs him.

A chain of safety pins, a sponge, a shoe, any small article that holds his attention for a few minutes will give mother a chance to get him into his clothes.

In these early months it is well for mother to learn a basic and important principle of child training: provide as many opportunities as possible for the child to do things himself. "Do" gets better results than "don't."

CANADIAN WOMEN WORRIED BY SERIOUS COMPLEXION PROBLEMS

More than two-thirds of Canadian women have been found to suffer from skin dryness—a condition caused by harsh weather, over-heated rooms, low-fat diets, etc. Robbed of natural oils and moisture, the skin toughens; little lines and crow's feet appear. If this is your problem, you need POND'S DRY SKIN CREAM. This famous cream, now with Allantoin, starts repair work in just 10 minutes! Allantoin floats off lifeless surface skin cells, speeds penetration of Pond's rich moisturized lanolin to parched tissues far below. Almost overnight, your complexion takes on new tone, looks smoother, softer, younger. Get POND'S DRY SKIN CREAM... in jar or tube, wherever cosmetics are sold.

Garden Notes

Buy Glads at Home

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRAS

I have often contended in this column that, of all the flowers we grow in our gardens, the gladiolus is the easiest and most trouble-free. All kinds of unpleasant things can happen to our seed-grown plants, particularly when they are in the delicate seedling stage, but glads, grown from a big husky bulb, are home-free almost before they are planted.

If you are starting your first year with glads, I think your best bet is to buy your bulbs from one of our local retailers. The department stores and garden centres and several of the florist shops have established connections with some of the best bulb growers both here and in Holland and the bulbs they sell will be clean, healthy, vigorous and correctly named.

It is much safer to do business with local firms than to take a chance on mail-order bargain counter offers. Always keep in mind that the bulbs you buy this spring will increase over the years and produce more bulbs; therefore it pays to pay a little more and start with good stock. It is just like breeding pedigree cattle, dogs or even cats—you wouldn't expect to get worthwhile kittens from a couple of mangy alley cats.

When you go to buy your bulbs, you have your choice of unnamed mixtures, costing from 60 cents to $1.25 a dozen, and of named varieties, running anywhere from 10 cents to 50 cents each. The mixture provides, pretty good value if you just want flowers for cutting, but you never get bulbs of the real aristocrats of the gladiolus world in these mixtures, and you never get to know the names of your pets.

I should warn you that to buy a carefully chosen collection of named gladiolus bulbs will probably inoculate you with gladiolus fever and you'll have the bug thereafter. As your experience with these lovely flowers widens, you'll become fussier and more discriminating. The varieties stocked by local retailers won't satisfy you; you'll start collecting catalogues from the specialist gladiolus growers and ordering some of the hard-to-get and more expensive bulbs.

Unlike the local retailers, these gladiolus firms offer their bulbs in different sizes—large, medium, small and bulblet. There is a tremendous difference in their prices and, in an order for several hundred bulbs, you can make a substantial saving by ordering the smaller sizes.

As an example, I have before me a catalogue which lists Bird of Paradise, a most unique gladiolus with fluted and serrated petals in a most interesting combination of cream, pink, apricot and coral shades, all in the one flower. The large size bulbs are 25 cents each, the medium 30 cents, the small 10 cents and the bulblets are 25 cents a dozen or $2 per 100.

The first three sizes will all bloom this year, although the small and medium bulbs may be a little later in coming into bloom than the large size and their flower spikes may not be as tall and as well furnished. In one sense, this is an advantage for, while the small bulbs are unlikely to win any prizes in the fall shows, the smaller spikes are easier to arrange in a bowl or vase than the five-foot monsters. In any case, they'll all be large bulbs next year.

Bulblets are an excellent investment if you are going in for glads in a big way. Normally, they take two years to reach flowering size but occasionally you run into the odd precocious bulblet which will flower the year of planting. They are as easy to grow as peas and their only special requirement is plenty of water through the summer dry spell.

Too Much Enterprise

Felt Boot Tycoon

Soviet 'Millionaire' Jailed

By ROBERT J. KORENGOLD

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet self-made ruble millionaire has been sentenced to a 15-year prison term for too much capitalist enterprise in a Communist state.

The excursion into private industry of F. Kuznetsov, a felt boot maker, started 10 years ago when he received permission to work in his home instead of at a community workshop where he was employed. He used his illegal speculative activities and tax evasion.

He dutifully turned in 15 pairs of woolen felt boots to the workshop every month, but made another 50 to 60 which he sold on the side.

The newspaper Rural Life, reporting on Kuznetsov's trial in the town of Tyk in central Russia, said he amassed a personal fortune of some 2,000,000 old rubles (roughly $200,000 at the old ruble tourist exchange rate) by his illegal speculative activities and tax evasion.

Additionally, Kuznetsov had acquired three houses, two cars, two motorcycles and one motorboat.

Kuznetsov nevertheless appeared for his trial wearing a battered old cloth jacket and a mangy pair of woolen boots.

The court also sentenced his son and wife and the chief of the local financial department, along with two financial inspectors who had been bribed to reduce Kuznetsov's income tax from 87,000 to 13,000 old rubles to terms of five to 12 years.

Hollywood Today

Ekberg Won't Be Missed

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Anita Ekberg will not be on hand for the New York premiere of her biggest film hit — "La Dolce Vita" on April 19. But I don't think she will be missed in the scramble for tickets at the renovated Henry Miller theatre. Gilbert Miller was so anxious to present this controversial film that he paid $100,000 in advance, and spent $50,000 to convert his theatre for the movie which is being released in this country by Astor Pictures with Bing Crosby's brother Everett on the board. The Fellini-directed epic has been attacked in Italy—I saw it being made in Rome two summers ago—because of its supposed exposure of the fast-living set there. It will be interesting to see how various groups receive it here.

Broadway. Mike has proved he is excellent at light comedy and he will be making a movie in Hollywood in the summer on these lines—after he has caught up with some "Thrid Man" TV segments.

Raymond Massey's daughter Anne is as big a hit in London in "The Miracle Worker" as Anne Bancroft has been in the same role in New York. Anne does the movie version.

Cantinflas, star of "Pepe", has so much money that he must give away two-thirds of his annual income or it will all go in taxes. Cantinflas is a great and real philanthropist. He gives his money quietly to the poor.

I was telling that fine character actor, Fred Clark, that I had seen him again recently in "How to Marry a Millionaire," with Marilyn Monroe, Laura Bacall and Betty Grable. He laughed and told me, "When I was given the script, they said that my girl would be Betty. I assumed they meant Betty Bacall. So I learned the entire role and was told when I reported for work that my girl was Betty Grable and here I had memorized the William Powell part!"

John Payne is recuperating in Palm Springs from that auto accident in New York. With the wonderful plastic surgery of today there will be no scars on his face—"although his chin was almost severed," his wife Nandy told me.

That handsome, charming Mike Bennis will be free to marry Mary Frensigner in the early summer at about the time he will be leaving his play, "Mary, Mary," on

Faded Papers Tell of Arctic Tragedy

By ARCH MACKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP)—Echoes of 19th-century Arctic exploration and tragedy were evoked Tuesday in a small Parliament Hill office.

On display were faded documents from rusted tin cans and a broken glass jar unearthed in 1960, most of them by modern explorers seeking traces of oil and gas.

Royal Navy vessels, Terror and Erebus. The vessels became locked in ice and a death march by survivors apparently ended on the mainland of Keewatin district, due north of Winnipeg.

The documents gathered in the last year will go to the Canadian archives. They describe the bearing of the storage site, location of food caches—"concentrated rum 8 gals" or "balled bacon 8 lbs." A record of the party's fruitless search is included plus the notation that all is well or, in the case of one document, that four deaths had occurred due to scurvy often complicated by frostbite.

Five of the nine documents were found on Devon Island, east of Melville Island. They were left by Sir Edward Belcher's expedition whose five ships formed the last and largest admiralty search group for Franklin. Sir Edward abandoned his ships in the ice—one was recovered—but survived a court martial and died an admiral.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, natural reduction or retraction (shrinkage) took place.

And most amazing of all—the improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Pain has ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of over 10 to 20 years' standing!

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dye)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dye is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppositories or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed containers. Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Theft of Talented Chimp Brings Two-Year Sentence

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Robert Tomarchin was sentenced to two years in jail Monday for stealing Mr. Moke, a talking chimpanzee, from the St. Louis Zoo.

Tomarchin, who had taught the chimp to say "mama" and "no," left a $1,000 cheque on the floor of Mr. Moke's cage. Zoo officials refused the deal and prosecuted him.

Never Heard Train

With Door Shut, Says School Driver

EDMONTON (CP)—School bus driver William Johnston said Tuesday that in more than two years of driving school buses he had never heard a train whistle or horn while the door of his bus was closed.

He was testifying at a preliminary hearing of a charge of criminal negligence against bus driver Frank Budney rising out of a level crossing disaster last Nov. 29 in which a freight knifed through a school bus at Lamont, Alta., taking 17 lives.

Mrs. Lois Stefura, a school teacher at Lamont High, and Mrs. Barbara Boyarchuk, who lives near the crossing, testified Budney had stopped his bus near the crossing.

Johnston, who drove a bus to Lamont High School the morning of the crash, said he had twice seen the train in question in the distance and had crossed the tracks in front of it.

He said it was not unusual for a driver to stop, judge the distance and speed of an oncoming train and cross in front of it if he felt it safe.

He agreed with a defence counsel's suggestion that it would be possible to make a mistake and be involved in an accident.

He said he now always opens the passenger door of his bus if he cannot clearly see an approaching train.

He did this after an incident a year ago when he kept his door closed as a train approached and heard it only as it passed him.

Mrs. Stefura said she had seen the bus stop for an estimated "one or two seconds."

The bus then moved onto the crossing and the train hit it about the centre, she said.

"The back of the bus flew off and I saw some of the children along with books and papers thrown into the air," the teacher said.

Mrs. Boyarchuk said she looked out the window and saw the bus, "standing south of the track."

"All of a sudden the train hit it," she said.

"It all happened so fast there was not time to see too much."

She said she heard the train whistle at the time she saw the bus.

Newspaper Secret Upheld by Court

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Justice Dalton Wells yesterday dismissed a motion to compel The Telegram to disclose its sources of information in a series of articles published in 1959.

The articles by Telegram reporter Frank Drea, concerning labor union difficulties in Sudbury, Ont., are the basis of a libel suit against the newspaper by Weir Reid of Sudbury.

In denying Mr. Reid's motion, Mr. Justice Wells said requiring a newspaper to disclose its sources is a matter of discretion but a rule has grown up allowing that generally they may be withheld. Trial date for the libel suit has not been set.

Family Doctor in Canada Making Strong Comeback

VANCOUVER (CP) — The family doctor in Canada is making a comeback, but there is a crying need for general practitioners in the United States.

These are the opinions of the past-president of the College of General Practice of Canada and the president of the American Academy of General Practice.

HIGHLY PAID

Dr. J. Howard Black said in an interview the general practitioner is emerging from the shadow of more impressively titled and higher paid medical specialists.

This was largely due to the efforts of the college, a seven-year-old organization which now numbers in its ranks 2,100 of Canada's 8,500 general practitioners.

CHIEF FUNCTION

The college's chief function is to facilitate the continuing post-graduate education of family doctors. Its four-day scientific assembly currently in progress here is part of its educational program.

Dr. J. G. Walsh, president of the college's U.S. counterpart, told delegates Tuesday both the public and organized medicine have become alarmed about the diminishing number of general practitioners in recent years.

He said medical education should put more stress on general practice and the most ambitious and intelligent students should be encouraged to enter this challenging field.

General practitioners shouldn't compete with specialists but they should maintain the same degree of competence the specialists have.

"Great advances in medical science mean little," he said, "unless the family doctor can deliver at the bedside."

Dr. Donald H. Williams, of the University of British Columbia's department of continuing medical education, said fair-skinned people should be warned that excessive exposure to the sun could result in skin cancer.

Skin cancer was the most common form of cancer, but since it showed up in exposed areas it could be treated by a general practitioner, he said.

No Immediate Decision

Cabinet Studies Nutrition Needs Of Many Groups

OTTAWA (CP) — Ways to provide proper nutrition for Canada's "legitimately needy"—non-employables, some pensioners or perhaps some unemployed and low-income groups—are still under cabinet consideration.

Informants said Tuesday several problems remain to be worked out and no immediate decision is expected.

They said the idea conceived about a year ago is not relief but a method to put proper diets in the hands of persons or groups otherwise lacking them.

Originally, it proposed the distributing of surplus Canadian foods. But Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton is closely connected with the scheme, has said that only wheat and some butter fall into this category.

The whole approach has been broadened to attempt to provide proteins, vitamins, minerals and other essential food elements for more people.

Informants said there have been four main suggestions about distributions, two including the use of food stamps which probably would be cashed at retail outlets.

They said one problem is how to work out a distribution system that hits the right people without encouraging abuses. Another is to avoid any social stigma and a third to decide what foods should be involved. This point involves the so-called "food basket" approach which simply means provision of certain basic foods essential for full health.

Medic-Alert Introduced To Canada

TORONTO (CP) — Medic-Alert, a program whose participants wear dog-tags listing their allergies to drugs, was introduced to Canada Friday at an organizing meeting held here.

Medic-Alert was founded in California by Dr. Marion C. Collins, who knew his teen-age daughter would die if given tetanus anti-toxin.

The program hopes to establish an internationally-recognized symbol, the caduceus, on a dog-tag or bracelet on which the wearer's medical allergies are inscribed in case of emergency.

About 50,000 persons in the U.S. and Canada now wear the red tag of a snake entwined about a staff, Dr. Collins said.

Teachers to Decide Professional Status

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C.'s 12,900 public school teachers will decide next week whether they will take the final steps toward professional status. Decision will be made here at the annual B.C. Teachers' Federation conference.

A plan to police teachers' ranks to guarantee professional competence would establish categories for teachers according to experience and training.

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal MP Paul Hellyer, a Toronto contractor, charged in the Commons Tuesday that the government is subsidizing the chartered banks and perhaps "lining the pockets of its friends" by advertising the banks' home improvement loans.

Mr. Hellyer said the government has refused to raise the statutory six-per-cent bank interest rate to the 6½ per cent peak under the National Housing Act so the banks could re-enter the house mortgage field, and yet is "doing the same thing by the back door."

Mr. Hellyer spoke before the Commons approved a $65,000 supplementary estimate for the labor department, raising to $311,000 the amount spent on "a program combating seasonal unemployment."

Mr. Fleming said the extra $65,000 results from the government's successful attempt last fall to get the chartered banks into a vigorous program effect of creating jobs," Mr. Fleming said. The government felt it was its duty to see, through advertising, that "as much use as possible is made of the facility thus created."

"This is hardly an occasion for a rebuke of the government," Mr. Fleming said.

Canada Holding U.K. To Uranium Purchase

Europe's Top Communists Conferring in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — Europe's top Communist leaders met yesterday in the Kremlin to study the Laotian crisis and such cold war issues as disarmament, the Congo and Berlin, and to work out a 20-year economic plan for the entire Communist bloc.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev was expected to make a major policy report during the week-long meeting of the heads of state of the Warsaw Pact nations. His speech could bring a reply to British proposals for a cease-fire in Laos.

The heads of state and the military and political leaders of almost the entire Communist bloc were present for the session. Tiny Albania and Communist China appeared to OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government is insisting that Britain fulfill its 1957 commitment to buy 12,000 tons of Canadian uranium in 1963-65, Trade Minister Hees told the Commons Tuesday.

At the same time he said, Canada might be amenable to Britain paying a price lower than the $5 a pound—a total of $192,000,000—originally agreed on through exchange of letters of intent.

Mr. Hees said he had two long talks this month with Sir Saville Garner, United Kingdom high commissioner to Canada. He added:

"I pointed out very clearly to the British high commissioner that Canada considered the quantity of 12,000 tons of uranium vitally important to the continuation of our uranium industry and that I did not feel any change in that quantity could be contemplated by the Canadian government."

700 Survive Train Wreck

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The Melbourne-Sydney Express with 700 passengers aboard crashed Monday into a stationary freight train near Cambelltown, 32 miles from Sydney. Thirty people were injured slightly. Four cars plunged off the track and both locomotives overturned.

Peak Erupts in Kamchatka

MOSCOW (AP) — A volcanic eruption of "maximum force" in the Kamchatka Peninsula was reported Tuesday. The eruption of the Bezdyanny peak started Saturday with a mushroom cloud of gas, Tass said. On Sunday a pillar of ash rose 42 miles. The rumbling stopped Monday.

Port Authority Scheme Urged Along Lower Fraser River

DELTA (CP) — Delta council has urged Transport Minister Leon Balcer to create an authority for the lower Fraser River similar to the Port of London authority.

The council, in a brief to the minister Tuesday, said the present New Westminster harbor commission was inadequate to do the job.

The brief was prepared following a request from the harbor commission for extension of its authority over shore leases in the westerly section of the river.

The brief said there was less than 1,000 acres of easily developed deep sea land available on the river, excluding Anacapa Island.

"If, however, the river and land along it were developed and works co-ordinated in a rational way then it is possible to have 6,000 acres available," the brief said.

Vancouver Choir To Tour Russia

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver's Elgar Choir will make a Russian concert tour in June.

Conductor C. E. Findlater said he has been given the go-ahead for the tour by the Russian ambassador to Canada.

The choir will be the first Canadian group to sing in Russia. Since it was formed as the Wesley Methodist Junior Choir in 1924, the group has sung in the Edinburgh Festival, the Welsh Eisteddfod and the world Sunday school convention in Oslo.

The workers were said to have disturbances of the pancreas and loss of red blood corpuscles.

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — Thirty thousand Korean rightists demonstrated in support of Premier John M. Chang yesterday in three cities. The marchers shouted "Away with the Reds disguised, as reformers" in demonstrations to counter those held last week to demand Chang's dismissal.

Bennett Grip On House Not So Firm

By PETER BRUTON
(First of a Series)

Perhaps the one dominating factor behind much of the verbal violence and exhausting pace of this year's session of the provincial legislature was the fact that Premier Bennett no longer held complete control.

Premier Bennett is not a man who gives in easily. Force of the opposition attack, its diversity and its bitterness, surprised the premier as it did observers and he answered it in a blunt and forceful way—punishing night sittings stretching into the early morning hours, day after day.

The premier accused the opposition of filibustering. Some of the time it was.

Once, in order to keep the CCF attack on Health Minister Eric Martin's estimates going, Gordon Dowding (CCF—Burnaby) handed out briefs presented to the American Psychiatric Association survey of mental health services to fellow members to read to the House.

That, in anybody's book, is filibustering.

Nevertheless the fact remains that Premier Bennett, who has had things pretty much his own way since Social Credit came to power nearly nine years ago, found his grip on the legislature less firm.

This applied not only to the opposition but to his own MLAs as well.

Once, after a series of night sittings, the premier smilingly told the House that it would adjourn that night at 10 p.m. no matter what.

He had been forced to agree to this in a hot and heavy caucus meeting a few moments before.

'We Want a Rest'

"We want a rest from this," the spokesman for the government backbenchers told the premier behind closed doors. "We want out tonight by 10 p.m. or else."

On another occasion the cabinet was condemned by the So-called backbenchers for drafting a too-harsh act to curb the activities of labor—and it is generally conceded that this led to a "watering-down" of the government's labor legislation.

But not all the fights could be kept behind doors, indeed they were in the minority.

It was a stinging slap in the face for the premier when one of his own backbenchers, Cyril Sheldorf of Ormeau, rose with the opposition to vote against the gasoline tax increase.

"It goes to show how democratic we are in Social Credit. Everybody is entitled to his own opinions," said the premier.

Cease Fire Near Macmillan Hopes

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan said Tuesday night he has received a message giving rise to hope that Russia will regard Britain's peace proposal for Laos as a good basis for solving the crisis.

But, he told a press conference, he has not yet received a formal reply.

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is delaying his reply to a British appeal for a cease-fire in Laos until he can complete consultations with Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung, diplomatic reports said yesterday.

The royal Lao government said Tuesday night it would never accept a cease-fire that did not call for the immediate withdrawal of Communist North Vietnamese troops and Soviet arms from Laos. The unexpected statement appeared likely to snarl peace negotiations.

BANGKOK (UPI) — The SEATO council of ministers yesterday warned the Communists that the defensive alliance is prepared "to take whatever action may be appropriate" if efforts to settle the Laotian situation peacefully fail.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States last night sought support from members of the free world's three main defence alliances in its effort to get Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to agree to a cease-fire in Laos.

The state department conducted briefings on the situation for the ranking diplomatic representatives in Washington of the 15-nation NATO and the eight-nation SEATO.

Also included was Iran, the one member of the Central Treaty Organization which does not belong to the other two alliances. Officials said the briefings were part of the U.S. effort to "enlist as much support as possible" for the American position in Laos.

Laos Rain Bogs Anti-Red Drive

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Torrential rains that arrived several weeks ahead of the monsoon season bogged down a government offensive yesterday.

Government troops, driven south toward Vientiane by a heavy Communist offensive last week, had been reported fighting back along the jungle road which extends 135 miles northward from Vientiane to Luang Prabang.

They were headed for the strategic mountain pass at Moung Kassy, 20 miles farther north, from which they were driven.

The Communists apparently overextended their supply lines — 200 miles across a mountain track from the Plain of Jars where Soviet transport planes land.

U.S. military observers said for the first time they are convinced Communist North Viet Nam troops have entered the fighting.

Public Works Scalpel Cuts Away $426,314

By TERRY HAMMOND

With the "hold-the-line" admonition of city council still ringing in its ears the city's public works committee yesterday took the knife to its 1961 provisional budget and in seven hours carved out $426,314.

But in order to come any where near last year's expenditures the scalpel of economy must amputate a further $1,450,000.

SLICED AWAY
By late yesterday afternoon the committee had sliced away at everything but public works capital expenditures, which at $1,411,883 amounts to something less than the sum still to be eliminated if the department is to meet council's dictum of "no boost in taxes."

Departmental officials brought to the committee's budget-slicing meeting yesterday estimates totalling $4,017,976. Somehow these must be reconciled to 1960 public works expenditures of only $2,085,931.

FEW MINUTES
With the surgery only a few minutes old, the committee snipped $10,350 from building maintenance and $11,550 from waterworks, then found it had to add $800 for additional inspection services.

Then at a single blow the committee cut away a $50,000 remedial program for part of the city section of Bowker Creek, a natural stream whose swift waters arouse the ire of North Victoria parents. The money would have launched a $150,000 three-year program designed to cover the treacherous watercourse.

STILL FALL IN
"Kill the $50,000," said Ald. Edgewood, who pointed out that even if the city covered its part of the stream, children could still fall into the Oak Bay and Saanich portions.

A further cut of $40,000 from special projects and $5,200 from operating expenditures brought sanitation and waste disposal down by $90,000 but still left it $42,300 above the 1960 level.

The committee could only scrape $1,650 from street lighting operating estimates but eliminated close to $300,000 worth of special projects which would have seen the city's cluster lights "rehabilitated" and installation of a $200,000 supplementary mercury-vapor lamp system to improve illumination.

When all cutting was done the street lighting budget was still some $40,000 over last year's figure.

The committee closed its day with elimination of $12,930 from the operating budget of the public works department, and cast a threatening eye on proposed special projects amounting to $1,411,883, which will come under discussion late today.

150,000 Feet Target Today

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — The X15 experimental rocketship is scheduled to attempt a new unofficial world altitude record of 23 miles—150,000 feet—today.

Already set up are the unofficial mark of 136,500 feet and the world speed record of 2,960 miles an hour.

Test pilot Joe Walker, 40, should experience 30 seconds of weightlessness at the top of his climb on the flight, the most ever experienced by a pilot.

Manitoba Swamps Sweepstake Plan

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba legislature over-whelmingly voted down Tuesday the idea of a provincially-operated sweepstakes.

The only members voting for a motion calling for the setting up of a government lottery to finance hospital costs were three members who had spoken in favor of the resolution—two Tories and one Liberal-Progressive.

Education Minister Stewart McLean opposed sweepstakes because he felt all taxation should be direct. It would set a bad example to finance the hospital plan by sweeps tickets.

$39,000,000 Bond Sale Five Times Manitoba Aim

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Roblin announced Tuesday evening in the Manitoba legislature that sales of the province's savings bonds have reached a total of $39,000,000—almost five times the hoped-for maximum.

The Progressive Conservative leader said he was both surprised and extremely grateful for the confidence the public has shown in the financial soundness of Manitoba.

Earlier in the day he had announced a figure of $29,246,000 at the close of sales at 5 p.m. Monday, but added that there were "a few odds and ends" still to be tallied.

These "odds and ends," he announced later, amounted to another $10,000,000.

Kennedy Changes Defence Concept

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Tuesday officially discarded "massive retaliation" as the U.S. all-purpose war deterrent.

In its place Kennedy prescribed in his special defence budget message to Congress the application of what military men call the balanced force concept. (See story, Page 2.)

ALL YOUR EGGS
What this means is: don't put all your eggs in one basket. It means the United States should be equally prepared for any war—big, little or in-between.

While Kennedy has indicated dissatisfaction in the past with the size and shape of the U.S. armed forces, the remedy he ordered is not original with him.

ONLY COINCIDENCE
It may be only coincidence, but nearly everything the president recommended Tuesday was outlined by Gen. Maxwell Taylor, former army chief of staff, in a recent issue of foreign affairs quarterly.

Taylor fought a long and losing battle against the Eisenhower doctrine of "more bang for a buck."

INTO CONFLICT
This brought him into conflict with the air force—chief proponents of the theory that an overwhelming nuclear strike force is the best guarantee against all wars, large and small.

While this fight was going on, the air force steadily grew more powerful and the army and navy dwindled to a point bordering on ineffectiveness in limited—that is, in non-nuclear—war.

HAVE TO SHARE
Now it seems that the air force is going to have to share its strategic role with the navy, and the army is to be upgraded to a role approaching equality.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK

Red China Doomed —Chiang

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — President Chiang Kai-shek yesterday criticized the "two China" policy and said it does not recognize the fact that the Chinese Communist regime is bound to collapse.

Chiang, in a Youth Day message, said "nothing can be more irrational of human rights" than the policy of recognizing both the Nationalist regime and the Chinese government in Peking.

(In Bangkok, where the SEATO powers are meeting, it was learned that the Kennedy administration has not changed and does not plan to change its policy toward supporting the Nationalist government.)

Tories, Liberals Unite to Squelch NATO Pull-Out

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Liberal opposition and the ruling Conservative parties in the House of Commons joined together in a rare display of unity last night to oppose a CCF suggestion that Canada should withdraw from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming and Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson defended Canada's continued membership in NATO in a noisy debate sparked by the Socialist group's motion to reduce $740,000 NATO contribution to $1.

CCF Leader Hazen Argue moved that the House not approve the supplementary spending estimate and reduce it to $1. The debate continued to the 10 p.m. adjournment and a vote was expected today before the Commons adjourns for the Easter recess.

Argue said Canada's NATO efforts should be used to strengthen conventional forces in this country and for assistance to under-developed nations.

Fleming replied to the applause of government supporters and the Liberal opposition that "we're not going to turn tail and leave them in the lurch."

"We stand squarely for NATO," he added, "and we'll not accept the suggestion of the CCF to dishonor our obligations."

Wave of Spending Danger to Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Thomas Crerar (L—Manitoba) warned the government Tuesday that its accelerating spending plans are leading Canada into a serious state of affairs.

"There is no reason at all why we should not work out of this plight if only our public men would think less about garnering votes and thought more of the real welfare of this country," he said.

When questioned about this remark later, Senator Crerar indicated he had the CCF in mind in its recent plea that pensions be raised to $75 a month from the present $55.

"I certainly did not wish to convey the impression that the leaders of this country were more interested in canvassing for votes than they were in the country's welfare," he added.

"That is the last thing I would want to say."

Senator Crerar predicted the 1961-62 government spending may top $7,000,000,000 for the first time.

No Change At Alberni

ALBERNI — Civic business in Alberni—city without a government—was still frozen yesterday with no new developments and no statements from warring factions — Mayor Mabel Anderson on one hand and her council on the other.

Youths Fined

Bottles Thrown At Police

DUNCAN—Two Lake Cowichan youths were fined in Duncan police court Tuesday in the aftermath of a Saturday night drinking and bottle throwing party.

RCMP were called to the Philip Holmes Street area on Saturday by residents who complained of car riding youths throwing empty beer bottles on the road.

STRUCK CAR

The youths threw bottles in front of the RCMP car as it approached the scene and some of the flying glass struck the car.

Robert Dods and Adrian Pecknold Jr., both 18, were each fined $10 for throwing bottles on the highway, and $10 for possession of beer while under age.

'SERIOUS CRIME'

Magistrate A. C. Sutton told the youths that throwing bottles on a highway "amounts to a serious crime."

"You know what it means to run over broken glass in a car."

He warned the pair to watch their steps and stay out of trouble in the future.

'Friendly City' Council Sees Name in Lights

Port Alberni Skiers One-Two at Plateau

COURTENAY—Two Port Alberni men and a Nanaimo housewife asked to victory Sunday in the Vancouver Island championships at Port Alberni Plateau.

Dave Osborne piled up enough points in his 36-second run in the men's downhill and in placing second in the slalom to win the combined events trophy. Ob Garthuis ran the 32 gates of the slalom to place first at 1:20 but was reduced to a tie for second in the downhill to take second honors in the combined totals.

Tom Feeley of the Comox Valley was third in the combination scoring.

Victoria Doctor Award Winner

Dr. P. M. Wolfe, Victoria physician and surgeon, has won a $500 Upjohn scholarship award. It was announced in Vancouver yesterday at the annual meeting of the College of General Practice of Canada. Upjohn scholarship winners get $500 for post-graduate studies at any hospital.

Holiday Schedule

PENDER ISLAND—Ferry will leave Swartz Bay Thursday for all Gulf Islands points at 6:50 p.m. instead of 4:55 p.m. and there will be a late return trip from islands Easter Sunday, arriving at Swartz Bay at 9:15, according to holiday weekend schedules announced by Gulf Islands Ferry Co. Trip is in addition to regular run arriving at Swartz Bay at 4:55 p.m.

DUNCAN—A giant, flashing directional sign will become a Duncan landmark if city council has its way.

Plans for the big sign, to be topped by a four or five-foot-square illuminated clock, were unveiled this week by Mayor Jack Dobson.

"Many people say they've been through Duncan yet they've never seen the town," Mayor Dobson said. Flashing, two-sided sign would direct traffic on the Trans-Canada Highway to the main business section.

Mayor Dobson said the big sign and giant clock would be paid for out of the city's business tax. "We must now find the best location, somewhere on the main highway near Trunk Road."

'TIME TO TURN LEFT'

Theme of rough sketch plans now being studied by council is "Time to turn left to Duncan shopping centre," and "Duncan, the friendly city." Smaller signs also point the way to Lake Cowichan and Maple Bay.

Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce will be asked for suggestions that could be incorporated in the directional sign.

WANT A LANDMARK

"We want this to be a landmark so that when somebody asks where Duncan is, the answer will be 'Turn left or right at the clock,'" Mayor Dobson said.

In a Salt Spring Garden

Grinning Skull Greet Digger

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD, Salt Spring Island—The Olsons of Beaver Point haven't got a skeleton rattling in the closet.

Theirs is in the garden patch. Correction—it was in the garden patch. Mrs. Rudy Olson was churning the spring soil under a rear window.

Suddenly, "there he was—grinning at me," she said. And he had a wonderful set of teeth, especially the lower ones.

Anywhere else, such a confrontation would convert a green thumb into a hitch hiker's pointing to far-away places.

But on Salt Spring residents hardly stop hoeing, according to records.

Many skeletons have been found in the past in all parts of the island. Years ago Indians buried their dead in scattered districts.

The big difference in the Beaver Point find is that the skeleton was whole. Others had been plowed under or broken up in digging.

Tree Snaps Power Line

CAMPBELL RIVER—Residents near the Campbell School were without power for about 20 minutes yesterday morning when a tree being cleared struck a high-tension line. There was a flash and loud explosion but no injuries. Fire brigade was sent to the site as a precaution. B.C. Hydro linemen quickly restored service.

Blaze Chases Bingo Players

NANAIMO—All events at dance, a Nanaimo Outboard Motor Club ball and regular Legion activities.

The first blaze started around 5:30 p.m. in the Legion's kitchen and catering facilities. Four hours later there was a second outbreak in the kitchen.

It is thought that faulty wiring was responsible for starting the fire which gutted the coffee shop kitchen and ruined valuable equipment. The kitchen was unoccupied at the time.

When the blaze started up again in the evening, bingo players were forced to leave the buildings.

Events called off because of fire damage include another bingo game, a rock 'n' roll

B.C. Official Being Stupid Edgelow Says

A senior provincial forest service official "is being stupid" in insisting that the city of Victoria maintain a fire warden in an area overlooked by a forest service lookout tower.

The charge came from city public works chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow yesterday during committee discussion of a $2,000 budget item covering the salary of a fire warden at Thetis Lake.

He suggested eliminating the item from the budget and letting the forest service "sue us."

City officials pointed out that they had conferred with a senior forest official over the matter in the past and that the forest service would not allow the city to eliminate the fire warden.

"I think the man is being stupid," Ald. Edgelow said.

FAIRLY RECENT

He claimed the forest service requirement was fairly recent, and remarked that the official had either been negligent in the past or "is trying to be difficult now."

Ald. Edgelow was equally critical of the warden.

"We practically have to have a policeman following him to see that he goes into the woods," he said.

He said the warden "stood around and watched the swimmers and got in the road."

A forest fire lookout tower commands the area from a nearby mountain 24 hours a day during the fire season, he added.

ANY BETTER

"How can one man do any better?"

He told the committee he has lived adjacent to the park for 15 years and that there has never been a forest fire there during that time.

"It just doesn't seem reasonable to have this man walk around where all the people are anyway," he stated.

Ald. Edgelow agreed to accompany city officials on a further mission to the forest service in order to get the requirement lifted.

He was warned that if the city simply failed to provide a warden the forest service might tender a large bill for its services if a forest fire ever broke out in the city-owned area.

Dairy's Fight Still On?

Saanich's Milky Way Dairy may not be out of the woods as far as their 64-ounce cartons are concerned.

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter said yesterday his department would study and give consideration to a report by the legislative committee on agriculture which recommended the sale of 64-ounce cartons be permitted in B.C.

But, he added, there were still provisions under the Act whereby Milky Way could be forced to stop selling the odd size carton.

The dairy has been engaged in a running fight with the B.C. agriculture department over the continued use of the cartons.

"The status quo will be kept at present," said Mr. Richter, "but we will be looking into it."

Pupils Off Thursday Builders Move In Teachers Take Trip

Some 22,500 students attending 45 Greater Victoria schools begin their 10-day Easter vacation when classes end Thursday.

They return to school Monday, April 10.

School officials and teachers, meanwhile, will be busy at tasks ranging from consideration of the recommendations contained in the Chant report on B.C. education to teacher recruitment for the new school year beginning in September.

In at least three schools, the excited buzz of conversation as pupils discuss their plans this week will be replaced by hammering and sawing as construction of new classrooms begins.

A school board spokesman said yesterday it is hoped construction of classroom additions at Gordon Head and Frank Hobbs elementary schools and at Esquimalt High School will be in "high gear" by next week.

A total of 13 new classrooms is scheduled for completion by September to accommodate an expected influx of more than 23,000 pupils in the system.

F. J. Cairnie, president of the Victoria Teachers Association, will lead a delegation of 25 other local teachers attending sessions of the B.C. Teachers' Federation convention in Vancouver starting Monday.

The sessions will last four days, but 12 of the Victoria group will attend one-day specialist sessions only.

From the school board here, H. Drummond Dee, director of secondary education, and H. C. O'Donnell, director of elementary education, will also be in Vancouver next week to begin recruitment of new teachers for next year.

Chief Isn't Worried About Radar Alarm

Saanich Police Chief W. A. Pearson isn't worried about yesterday's announcement that an American electronics company is manufacturing devices to warn motorists of the presence of police radar traps.

The gadget, about the size of two cigaret packages and retelling for about $40, is supposed to buzz when the motorist comes within one-quarter-mile of radar speed-tracking equipment.

"I couldn't care less," said Chief Pearson. He doesn't think it will work on Saanich's radar apparatus.

NOT OLD TYPE

"Ours is not the ordinary type of old-style, relatively low frequency radar in general use and even used by RCMP. Our beam operates at 186,000 vibrations per second and to calibrate any mechanical device to interrupt the beam would be difficult to do," he said.

"This is as foolproof as any mechanical device that can be made," and the only known way of interfering with its beam would be the operation of a similar device to jam the readings, said Mr. Pearson.

One tube alone in the set costs at least $200, he added.

MUCH SIMPLER

"It would be much simpler if people drove within reasonable bounds of the speed limit. They wouldn't need to buy any gadgets at all," he said.

Saanich hasn't brought any radar speed trap case to police court yet but may do so at any time. Police personnel are still receiving special training in connection with the radar.

Official Sendoff for Kiwanis Villa

Cornerstone of new Kiwanis Villa, ultimately to house 74 elderly single persons, was laid on Kiwanis Village site yesterday by Premier Bennett, centre above. With him are Mayor

Bennett Lauds Club As New Villa Started

In congratulatory and jocular mood after the legislative session, Premier W. A. C. Bennett yesterday laid the cornerstone of Kiwanis Village—newest addition to Victoria's biggest low-rent housing project for elderly people.

The premier paid tribute to the Kiwanis Club whose work had made the project possible—commending members for raising funds without loans.

ONE THIRD

He pointed out the provincial government's support of such projects for the aged: any group in the province which raises the first 10 per cent necessary for such a project would receive, he said, one-third of its objective from the provincial government.

Premier Bennett also commended the city for helping make low rentals possible by exempting the project from taxation.

R. N. E. Harris, president of the Kiwanis Village Society, told the group attending the ceremony that 50 cottages were already built and occupied by elderly couples or, in some cases, single people.

HOUSE 74

The Villa, when complete, will house 74 elderly single persons in units of a one-floor apartment-style building. First portion to be built, he said, should be completed by Aug. 15 of this year, and will house 50 tenants.

"All of this has been possible through the generous support of the people of Victoria in our annual campaigns: from special donations, and with the help of the province," he said.

Congratulations of Victoria were extended by Mayor Percy Scurrell, who emphasized the vital importance of such a project in a city inhabited by so many elderly people attracted by the mild climate.

GREAT SERVICE

"This," he added, "is a great community service. Included Kiwanis officials Ron Loch-head, Ernie Miller, and Victoria club president Jack Lee. The cornerstone was dedicated by Rev. W. G. Wilson.

20 More Canadians

About 20 persons will become Canadian citizens during a naturalization ceremony at the court house at 10 a.m. Thursday.

They will then be welcomed as Canadians by the Women's Canadian Club, under the auspices of the Greater Victoria Citizenship Council.

Edgelow Melts Snow Bill

In slashing an item of $3,500 from the proposed 1961 city budget yesterday the public works committee defied the methods of long-range weather forecasting and planned its hopes to the Japanese current.

The committee, edged on by chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow's conviction that the Japanese current is swinging south of its traditional course and bringing milder winters with it, snipped from the budget all provision for snow removal in October, November and December this year.

"The last two winters have definitely been better," Ald. Edgelow assured a somewhat doubtful City Engineer James Garnett and Comptroller James Bramley.

Courtenay Project Wins Ottawa Aid

The federal government has approved a loan of $177,566 to the city of Courtenay to assist in the construction of a sewage treatment project, Colonist Ottawa correspondent Tom Green reported yesterday.

The announcement was made today by R. C. McQuillan, MP for Comox-Alberni, on behalf of Works Minister David Walker.

The loan, which will be made under the National Housing Act, is for a term of 20 years with interest at 5 1/2 per cent per annum. The NHA loan is based on an estimated cost of $266,365 for the project.

In addition to a system of sanitary sewers the project includes construction of a stabilization pond, lift station, force main and trunk collector. It is to assist in the construction of the last four works that the NHA loan is being made.

DUNCAN — City of Duncan, with the permission of neighboring North Cowichan municipality, will extend its water system to boost summer pressure in the Hospital Hill, Sherman-Grieve Road area.

A 12-inch main will be installed from the city reservoir across Banks Road, Wilson Avenue and over Cliff Road to Government Street.

Action follows complaints from residents of the area that they were unable to get water for washing or sprinkling during the summer months.

City system serves portions of the municipality as well as the city proper.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Kenneth R. McLaughlin, a former resident of Victoria and owner of the Gorge Fishing resort at Shelter Point, is dead following a brief illness.

He is survived by his widow, Muriel, sons Gordon and Larry of Campbell River. Funeral is set for 10 a.m. Thursday in St. Peter's Anglican Church with Canon T. D. Proctor officiating.

NANAIMO — New officers of the Newcastle chapter, Order of De Molay, were installed here last week.

Jim McMurtry, master councillor, is now head of the Newcastle chapter. Other officers installed were senior councillor Bob Honeyman, junior councillor Ken Hatch and treasurer Lorne James.

CROFTON — Two lots on the east side of Berridge Street near popular Crofton Beach have been purchased by the municipality of North Cowichan for $1,500 and will be developed as public parking lots.

DUNCAN — Dr. C. J. C. MacKenzie of Duncan, chief medical health officer for the Central Vancouver Island health unit, is taking a one-year leave of absence from his post to join the UBC faculty. He will do research work as well as lecture classes.

Dr. J. F. Burrows, Nanaimo, assistant director of the health unit, will be acting director during Dr. MacKenzie's absence.

NANAIMO — Aldermen will attempt to solve the Vancouver Island Exhibition Association's $54,000 debt problem Wednesday.

The council meeting will include representatives from the Junior Chamber of Commerce, association members and Civic Properties and Recreation Commission officials.

Aldermen agreed to hold the meeting—at the request of Jaycees—in order to find a permanent solution to the association's financial troubles.

DUNCAN — The recently formed Duncan Hand Gun Club is developing a 50-yard shooting range at the old MacMillan & Bloedel gravel pit behind the Kokilah weigh scales.

President of the 19-member group is Art Browne. Max Hochstetter is vice-president and Bob Trotman, secretary.

Members are currently awaiting approval of permits from the attorney-general's office to carry firearms to and from the club range.

NANAIMO — After just one year of operation, the North Cedar waterworks district is better off than any other district in B.C. water system chairman Charles Rudolph reports.

The district has fixed assets of about $115,000 plus a bank balance of nearly $9,000.

It'll Be Safe, Says Saunders

Public 'Is Ignorant' Of Sewage System

DUNCAN — The public is ignorant of what the city is planning for its new sewage disposal system, Ald. J. H. Saunders told council this week.

He made his comments after a copy of a letter sent to the department of recreation and conservation, minister of health and welfare, federal department of fisheries and the department of Indian affairs by Cowichan Fish and Game Association was read.

The letter urges that proper control of Cowichan River be a condition of approval for the city's proposed new lagoon-type sewage system. Otherwise, the game club claims, overflow from the system during high-water periods will pose a threat to fish in the lower reaches of the Cowichan River.

It sounds to me like they don't quite understand what we're planning," Ald. Saunders said, referring to the lagoon type system being studied by council. "In fact, I feel the whole public is ignorant of what's going on. It's time we came out and told them the facts—what we plan and how it will operate."

Mayor Jack Dobson pointed out that council was still negotiating for property needed for the disposal system and release of information at the present time would be premature.

We're just as interested in the fishing value of the river as they are. I know it's scary to think of effluent being dumped in the river but I've already said I'd be willing to drink anything that comes out of the system we plan to install. It'll be that safe, and I mean what I said."

Mayor Dobson said final plans would soon be available

LADYSMITH — The Ladysmith Sportsmen's Club sponsored the showing here of "The Story of Lonesome Lake," the one-and-a-half hour color movie of wild life produced by John E. Edwards, and it was well received.

Central figure is Ralph Edwards, father of John, who went into the totally-isolated head waters of the Bella Coola Valley 50 years ago, and carved a home and a way of life which resulted in his life exploits being published in a 1957 issue of Reader's Digest magazine.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Salmon Unlimited, a new organization in which commercial and sports fishermen have banded together to work for conservation of fish, will meet tonight to hear Pacific area fisheries director W. R. Hurston, district fisheries superintendent G. E. Moore, chief protection officer C. R. Levelton, chief engineer C. H. Clay and Quathilish fisheries officer Joseph Fielden.

PORT WASHINGTON — L. J. Armstrong was re-elected president of the Pender Island Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting. Vice-president Mrs. G. A. Scott and secretary Mrs. W. L. Shirley were also re-elected. New treasurer is S. P. Corbett.

Ralph Smith, D. Hutton and A. MacKinnon were elected for three-year terms as directors. J. B. Bridge was elected for a two-year term.

NORTH COWICHAN — Construction of a small swimming pool at Fuller's Lake Park in Chemainus is among the projects budgeted for in North Cowichan's $9,000 parks program. The pool is expected to cost $1,500.

Other work scheduled during the year includes: Kinsmen Beach, Chemainus, roads and sewers, $800; Maple Mountain Park, complete road, $1,500; Smith Bay Beach, survey, $1,000; Crofton Beach, parking lot, $1,600. Budget also provides for the hiring of four summer caretakers at municipal beaches and general maintenance of facilities.

A budget of $2,000 for the municipal sports council has also been approved.

Cougar Eludes Trackers

FULFORD — A large cougar believed wandering through the woods of Salt Spring Island has not been cornered yet, according to latest report.

There are many signs of it having been feeding well on sheep and deer, and if it is not caught, says sheep rancher Robert Akerman, it could wipe out all the sheep.

J. Dewar has been tracking the cougar for the past week. Another hunter and his dogs will join in the hunt this week, according to reports.

The wily animal hasn't left any fresh tracks, other than those found by Akerman last week in the vicinity of Mt. Bruce. But dead sheep tell the tale.

Groups Reserve Gorge Park

Five groups have already reserved Kinsmen Gorge Park for their activities this summer. An Esquimalt municipal official said the park is becoming an increasingly popular spot for family, club and church picnics.

'Dial Your Own Diagnosis' Or—How Doctors Have Fun

DOCTORS AT LARGE: We had one of our mainland agents drop in on the annual convention of the Canadian College of Practitioners in Vancouver and he was somewhat startled at the whole operation.

Seems one of the displays receiving greatest attention is what is known as "A Dial Your Own Diagnosis" board. Doctors dial for clues, perhaps symptoms would be a better word, and then dial their diagnosis.

If they click with the right diagnosis the machine lights up like a jackpot on a pinball machine. Medics are getting a big charge out of it.

Another exhibit has this sign overhead: "Inquire about our convention special—this week only. For every three dozen sutures you buy, one needle-driver free!"

Our agent adds this footnote: The 650 doctors attending the convention are meeting just down the road from where "sick" comedian Mort Sahl is appearing nightly.

HELP WANTED: A letter from Nigeria is self-explanatory . . .

"I am an African boy, 18 years old, five feet four inches tall and weigh 125 pounds. I am seeking friends all over the wonderful country of Canadian regardless of age or sex and would like to swap some African articles which I have in my little gift shop for American products. The articles including ivory carvings, ebony candle holders, deer skin, handbags with alligator skin handbags, slippers, wallets for men women boys and girls.

"All type of animal skin including tiger, antelope, leopard and jaguar in return for wash and wear pants, shirts, jackets, sweaters, shoes socks and belts all in medium sizes. My joy shall have no bound if you could help me . . . May God bless you all. Amen."

Anyway, if anyone's interested write to: Masha Shombar, 7 Sawyer Street, Lagos, Nigeria.

WAR AND PEACE: Our legislators may fight tooth and nail when the public eye is on them but underneath they're friends.

Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson, the fiery millionaire logger, the other day invited Premier Bennett, to be his guest at his Fort Vancouver estate in Hawaii . . .

INSIDE STORY: Sunday we reported how the unemployed pickets travelled to federal Finance Minister Donald Fleming's meeting here by taxi.

Okay, okay . . . now we have the other half of the story.

Seems that reporter Tony Dickason of the afternoon bugle was late for the meeting so grabbed a cab and sped off—to Central Junior High. On arrival he found the place deserted except for three unemployed pickets marching up and down, up and down . . . "What are you doing here?" asked Tony.

They said they were picketing Mr. Fleming's meeting. Then it suddenly dawned on Tony that the meeting was at St. J. Willis, not Central Junior High.

"Would you like a lift?" asked Tony.

The three pickets gratefully accepted.

And that's how come they arrived at the meeting by taxi.

Away With Reds Koreans Shout

Bennett Grip On House Not So Firm

By PETER BRUTON
(First of a Series)

Perhaps the one dominating factor behind much of the verbal violence and exhausting pace of this year's session of the provincial legislature was the fact that Premier Bennett no longer held complete control.

Premier Bennett is not a man who gives in easily.

Force of the opposition attack, its diversity and its bitterness, surprised the premier as it did observers and he answered it in a blunt and forceful way—punishing night sittings stretching into the early morning hours, day after day.

The premier accused the opposition of filibustering.

Some of the time it was.

Once, in order to keep the CCF attack on Health Minister Eric Martin's estimates going, Gordon Dowling (CCF—Burnaby) handed out briefs presented to the American Psychiatric Association survey of mental health services to fellow members to read to the House.

That, in anybody's book, is filibustering.

Nevertheless the fact remains that Premier Bennett, who has had things pretty much his own way since Social Credit came to power nearly nine years ago, found his grip on the legislature less firm.

This applied not only to the opposition but to his own MLAs as well.

Once, after a series of night sittings, the premier smilingly told the House that it would adjourn that night at 10 p.m. no matter what.

He had been forced to agree to this in a hot and heavy caucus meeting a few moments before.

'We Want a Rest'

"We want a rest from this," the spokesman for the government backbenchers told the premier behind closed doors. "We want out tonight by 10 p.m. or else."

On another occasion the cabinet was condemned by the Social Credit backbenchers for drafting a too-harsh act to curb the activities of labor—and it is generally conceded that this led to a "watering-down" of the government's labor legislation.

But not all the fights could be kept behind doors; indeed they were in the minority. It was a stinging slap in the face for the premier when one of his own backbenchers, Cyril Sheldorf of Omineca, rose with the opposition to vote against the gasoline tax increase.

"It goes to show how democratic we are in Social Credit. Everybody is entitled to his own opinions," said the premier.

Cease Fire Near Macmillan Hopes

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan said Tuesday night he has received a message giving rise to hope that Russia will regard Britain's peace proposal for Laos as a good basis for solving the crisis.

But, he told a press conference, he has not yet received a formal reply.

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is delaying his reply to a British appeal for a cease-fire in Laos until he can complete consultations with Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung, diplomatic reports said yesterday.

The royal Laotian government said Tuesday night it would never accept a cease-fire that did not call for the immediate withdrawal of Communist North Vietnamese troops and Soviet arms from Laos. The unexpected statement appeared likely to snarl peace negotiations.

BANGKOK (UPI) — The SEATO council of ministers yesterday warned the Communists that the defensive alliance is prepared "to take whatever action may be appropriate" if efforts to settle the Laotian situation peacefully fail.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States last night sought support from members of the free world's three main defence alliances in its effort to get Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to agree to a cease-fire in Laos.

The state department conducted briefings on the situation for the ranking diplomatic representatives in Washington of the 15-nation NATO and the eight-nation SEATO.

Also included was Iran, the one member of the Central Treaty Organization which does not belong to the other two alliances. Officials said the briefings were part of the U.S. effort to "enlist as much support as possible" for the American position in Laos.

Laos Rain Bogs Anti-Red Drive

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Torrential rains that arrived several weeks ahead of the monsoon season bogged down a government offensive yesterday.

Government troops, driven south toward Vientiane by a heavy Communist offensive last week, had been reported fighting back along the jungle road which extends 135 miles northward from Vientiane to Luang Prabang.

They were headed for the strategic mountain pass at Mouang Kassy, 20 miles farther north, from which they were driven.

The Communists apparently over-extended their supply lines—200 miles across a mountain track from the Plain of Jara where Soviet transport planes land.

U.S. military observers said for the first time they are convinced Communist North Viet Nam troops have entered the fighting.

Public Works Scalpel Cuts Away $426,314

By TERRY HAMMOND

With the "hold-the-line" admonition of city council still ringing in its ears the city's public works committee yesterday took the knife to its 1961 provisional budget and in seven hours carved out $426,314.

But in order to come any where near last year's expenditures the scalpel of economy must amputate a further $1,450,000.

SLICED AWAY

By late yesterday afternoon the committee had sliced away at everything but public works capital expenditures, which at $1,411,883 amount to something less than the sum still to be eliminated if the department is to meet council's dictum of "no boost in taxes."

FEW MINUTES

With the surgery only a few minutes old, the committee snipped $10,350 from building maintenance and $11,550 from waterworks, then found it had to add $800 for additional inspection services.

Then at a single blow the committee cut away a $50,000 remedial program for part of the city section of Bowker Creek, a natural stream whose swift waters arouse the ire of North Victoria parents. The money would have launched a $150,000 three-year program designed to cover the treacherous watercourse.

STILL FAIL-ING

"Kill the $30,000," said Ald. Edgewood, who pointed out that even if the city covered its part of the stream, children could still fall into the Oak Bay and Saanich portions.

A further cut of $40,000 from special projects and $5,200 from operating expenditures brought sanitation and waste disposal down by $80,000 but still left it $42,300 above the 1960 level.

The committee could only scrape $1,650 from street lighting operating estimates but eliminated close to $300,000 worth of special projects which would have seen the city's cluster lights "rehabilitated."

150,000 Feet Target Today

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — The X15 experimental rocketship is scheduled to attempt a new unofficial world altitude record of 23 miles—150,000 feet—today.

Already set up are the unofficial mark of 150,000 feet and the world speed record of 2,965 miles an hour.

Test pilot Joe Walker, 46, should experience 90 seconds of weightlessness at the top of his climb on the flight, the most ever experienced by a pilot.

Manitoba Swamps Sweepstake Plan

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba legislature overwhelmingly voted down Tuesday the idea of a provincially-operated sweepstake.

The only members voting for a motion calling for the setting up of a government lottery to finance hospital costs were three members who had spoken in favor of the resolution—two Tories and a Liberal-Progressive.

Education Minister Stewart McLean opposed sweepstakes because he felt all taxation should be direct. It would set a bad example to finance the hospital plan by sweepstakes.

$39,000,000 Bond Sale Far Over Manitoba Aim

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Roblin announced Tuesday evening in the Manitoba legislature that sales of the province's savings bonds have reached a total of $39,000,000—almost five times the hoped-for maximum.

The Progressive Conservative leader said he was both surprised and extremely grateful for the confidence the public has shown in the financial soundness of Manitoba.

Earlier in the day he had announced a figure of $29,246,000 at the close of sales at 5 p.m. Monday, but added that there were "a few odds and ends" still to be tallied.

These "odds and ends," he announced later, amounted to another $10,000,000.

Airliner Crash Kills 52

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — A four-engined Czech airliner plunged in flames into a wooded area 30 miles north of here Tuesday killing all 52 persons aboard.

Many of the bodies recovered from the burned wreckage were those of small children.

FIRST STOP

The 80-passenger, Soviet-made Ilyushin-18 turbo-prop plane was en route from Prague to Bamako, capital of the Mali republic in West Africa, and was scheduled to make its first stop at Zurich, Switzerland.

At Zurich, a spokesman for the government-owned Czechoslovak airlines said the plane carried 44 passengers and a crew of eight.

IN FLAMES

Witnesses said the giant airliner was in flames and apparently had attempted an emergency landing near the hamlet of Rueselsbach.

Czech postal bags and a Soviet passport were among the items found strewn in a field in the wooded area where the plane crashed.

A telephone operator near the scene said the giant airliner apparently was trying to make a forced landing.

OVER TREMORS

"The drone of a low-flying plane alarmed us," she said. "The noise grew louder and louder. Then I could see the plane gliding over the treetops."

"I could see it plunge into the open field. There was a horrible explosion and a giant red flame shot toward the night sky."

CHIANG KAI-SHEK

Red China Doomed —Chiang

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — President Chiang Kai-shek yesterday criticized the "two-China" policy and said it does not recognize the fact that the Chinese Communist regime is bound to collapse.

Chiang, in a Youth Day message, said "nothing can be more irrational of human rights" than the policy of recognizing both his Nationalist regime and the Chinese government in Peking.

In Bangkok, where the SEATO powers are meeting, it was learned that the Kennedy administration has not changed and does not plan to change its policy toward supporting the Nationalist government.

Tories, Liberals Unite to Squelch NATO Pull-Out

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Liberal opposition and the ruling Conservative parties in the House of Commons joined together in a rare display of unity last night to oppose a CCF suggestion that Canada should withdraw from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming and Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson defended Canada's continued membership in NATO in a noisy debate sparked by the Socialist group's motion to reduce a $740,000 NATO contribution to $1.

CCF Leader Hazen Argue moved that the House not approve the supplementary spending estimate and reduce it to $1. The debate continued to the 10 p.m. adjournment and a vote was expected today before the Commons adjourns for the Easter recess.

Argue said Canada's NATO efforts should be used to strengthen conventional forces in this country and for assistance to under-developed nations.

Fleming replied to the applause of government supporters and the Liberal opposition that "we're not going to turn tail and leave them in the lurch."

"We stand squarely for NATO," he added, "and we'll not accept the suggestion of the CCF to dishonor our obligations."

Wave of Spending Danger to Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Thomas Crerar (L—Manitoba) warned the government Tuesday that its accelerating spending plans are leading Canada into a serious state of affairs.

"There is no reason at all why we should not work out of this plight if only our public men would think less about men would think less about garnering votes and think more of the real welfare of this country," he said.

When questioned about this remark later, Senator Crerar indicated he had the CCF in mind in its recent plea that pensions be raised to $75 a month from the present $55.

"I certainly did not wish to convey the impression that the leaders of this country were more interested canvassing for votes than they were in the country's welfare," he added. "That is the last thing I would want to say."

Senator Crerar predicted the 1961-62 government spending may top $7,000,000,000 for the first time.
